GREAT BRITAIN ISSUES GRAVE WARNING TO HITLER

32 MEN DIE AS 4 REBEL SHIPS ATTACK VESSEL

Spanish Government Craft Limpers Away After 2 1/2-Hour Battle

THOUSANDS ON GIBRALTAR WATCH VIVID FIREWORKS

British Indicate Destroyer To Proceed After Being Repaired

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A Spanish government destroyer limped into port today from a one-sided naval battle in which its captain said 32 men aboard—including 26 insurgents—were killed.

The destroyer, the 1,650-ton Jose Luis Diaz, fled the two and one-half hour battle with four insurgent warships, severely battered and with the bodies of 30 of the victims.

The youthful commander of the government destroyer, 21-year-old Juan Antonio Castro, told his story of the before dawn encounter through the Spanish consul at Gibraltar.

The 24 prisoners aboard composed the crews of two insurgent armed trawlers which the destroyer had sunk prior to the engagement with the four warships, the commander related.

They were placed in the fore part of the destroyer and were killed when the craft was struck by a shell from the insurgent cruiser Canarias.

The other victims were two members of the crew of the Jose Luis Diaz and six men who were lost overboard. Two of the destroyer's crewmen were wounded.

The Jose Luis Diaz was attacked at 2:15 a.m., ten miles southeast of Gibraltar by the insurgent cruiser Canarias and three destroyers, some of which, Antonio Castro said, were Italian, of the Aquila or Falco type.

None of the four craft had lights as the battle began. The young government commander said the insurgent craft opened fire from the vicinity of Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, as Ceuta and

HOPES PRESIDENT WILL GO SUNDAY INTO MARYLAND

Presumes Executive Will Go Through La Plata And To Morgantown

CANDIDATE THINKS DRIVE SHOULD BE HISTORIC ONE

Says Investigation Promised Into Tobacco Situation In State

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Representative David J. Lewis, New Deal favored candidate to unseat Democratic Senator Millard E. Tydings, said tonight that he had received word President Roosevelt probably would visit Maryland next Sunday.

His announcement was contained in a copy of a speech scheduled for delivery at La Plata Md., and released through a citizens' committee working for Lewis.

Lewis, who is contesting with Tydings for the Democratic senatorial nomination, said he had received word that the president probably would visit the site of a proposed bridge on the lower Potomac river—"I believe next Sunday."

He said he presumed that the president would motor to Morgantown, passing through La Plata, and that the drive "should be a historic one."

At the same time the candidate announced that he had just received a letter from Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general at Washington, promising an immediate investigation by the justice department to determine whether purchases of Maryland tobacco had violated the anti-trust laws by combining to reduce their bids.

Lewis charged that Senator Tydings had "passed the Tydings price-fixing bill," which he called "the greatest boon received by the big three of the tobacco industry in all their years of operation."

"Before this bill, they had to conspire among themselves to fix prices," Lewis said. "Now they can do it with the blessing of the law passed by your senator from Maryland."

Pledging to do his utmost to help obtain Public Works funds for the proposed bridge across the lower Potomac, he said the president's trip "should blaze a new highway trail between the north and the south."

RATE OF COTTON LOANS REVEALED BY GOVERNMENT

Amounts Will Range From 5.30 To 10.75 Cents Per Pound

FLOOR UNDER PRICES IN EFFECT NOW ONE OBJECT

Another To Enable Farmers To Hold Crop Until Demand Better

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The agriculture department broadened its efforts to halt farm price declines today by announcing it would make loans on 1938 cotton at rates ranging from 5.30 to 10.75 cents a pound and increase the loan rate on 1937 corn from 50 to 51 cents a bushel.

This action was taken a few days after the department of labor had reported that the general level of farm prices declined during the previous week to the lowest level in four years.

The loans were offered for a two-fold purpose: To finance farmers desiring to withhold crops from markets until supplies are smaller and prices may be higher, and to place a floor under present prices. Corn prices rose about a cent and a half a bushel immediately after the loan was announced.

The cotton loan is the second lending program inaugurated since mid-July. The first offered wheat grow-

Louisiana Escapes Tropical Hurricane

West Indian Storm Approaches Mexican Coast Below Brownsville

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The south sweltered in a searing heat wave today while the gulf coast escaped a West Indian hurricane which tonight approached the northeast Mexican coast below Brownsville, Tex.

An advisory issued tonight by the United States weather bureau here said the five-day-old tropical hurricane was central at 6:30 p. m. central standard time, about 175 miles south-southeast of Brownsville, 50 to 100 miles off the Mexican coast.

W. F. McDonald, chief meteorologist, said, "The disturbance is tending to turn further down all the time. Its center definitely should strike north of Tampico before midnight at the latest. That region is sparsely settled, and the hurricane will have spent itself by morning."

There was no indication of the force of the winds at the center of the disturbance, which was moving nearly westward at 12 to 14 miles per hour, McDonald said.

The advisory warned there probably would be gales in the vicinity of Brownsville with high tides on the right side of the storm center on the northeast Mexican coast and at the mouth of the Rio Grande. Northeast storm warnings were continued south of Corpus Christi, Tex., to Brownsville.

New Orleans forecasters said the only effect the hurricane would have on the southern coast would be temporary relief in southern Texas, where the temperatures were ranging about 90 degrees.

The heat wave extended from Arkansas through northeast Texas and

MERCHANTS READY FOR 'DOLLAR DAY'

Bargains. Galore To Be Offered Shopping Public Tomorrow

Monroe merchants cooperating in the second city-wide cooperative "Dollar Day" of the year yesterday reported they are ready to greet the crowds of shoppers which are expected to take advantage of the event tomorrow, with the finest variety of "dollar bargains" in the history of merchandising here.

For weeks Monroe merchants have been preparing their stocks for the "Dollar Day" sale tomorrow. The event, sponsored by the retail merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce, has received the enthusiastic support of the local merchants and nothing has been left undone to afford customers a real opportunity to go on a regular shopping spree tomorrow.

Members of the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce, who have worked energetically to make the affair a success, last night announced that the public of Monroe and the surrounding trade territory tomorrow will have an exceptional opportunity of buying high quality merchandise and replenishing their stocks in all lines, on the basis of bargain prices which only a "Dollar Day" sale makes possible.

Shoppers are urged to check their favorite stores and be there bright and early tomorrow so as to have first pick.

'HOME STRETCH' BUSINESS GOOD

Better Than Seasonal Late Summer Improvement Shown In Some Sectors

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Business came down the summer home stretch in a good mood this week.

Reports from the nation's trade and industrial centers indicated better than seasonal improvement in some sectors. In other fields, however, caution was the keynote.

Increases in steel and electricity production and carloadings contrasted with a moderate decrease in motor output. Retail trade received help from more favorable weather. Wholesale activity picked up but concern was expressed that buying was mainly limited to stocking of depleted inventories rather than speculative demand.

The department of commerce, in its weekly survey of business in 35 cities, stressed that business generally was "brighter even than the season's outlook," "brighter indeed than the outlook," "to believe that the present recovery movement is fairly deep-rooted," the department said.

Business men had the following points to trends: Employment "fairly improved in some sections. The outlook for the near future indicated signs of thawing. Federal relief and work projects had up momentum. Residential building continued to swing along. The week's statistics showed that in

TOWNSEND ASSAILS ROOSEVELT ACTION

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend denounced as "a grand piece of effrontery" what he described today as President Roosevelt's entry into state politics.

The pension plan leader denounced three Oregon Republicans for national office and said in an interview:

"We have too many Democrats in the national government. We should have a strong minority in congress at all times to retard foolish and vicious legislation."

Republicans he endorsed in Oregon's general election are: State Treasurer Rufus Holman, running against William E. Mahoney, avowed New Dealer, the senator Homer D. Angell, Republican congressional nominee from the first (Portland) district, and James W. Mott, Republican congressman from the third (western Oregon) district.

Dr. Townsend's only endorsement of a Democrat seeking a national office was Oregon's new Democratic Governor Walter Pierce, asking re-election in the second (western Oregon) district.

RESULTS TO BE VICTORIES OR DEFEATS FOR ROOSEVELT

Initial party rallies in Indiana and Pennsylvania shared attention Saturday with two primary campaign battles whose outcome next week will be interpreted widely as either victories or defeats for President Roosevelt.

Another object of political interest was a runoff Democratic primary in Texas Saturday, where two congressional seats were involved. Representative W. D. McFarlane, whom the president had mentioned as "my friend," tilted in one of those contests with Ed Gossett, Wichita Falls attorney.

Republican leaders began their midwest campaign with a rally in an Indiana cornfield, denouncing the Roosevelt administration and its policies. Pennsylvania's Democrats

POLICE CAPTURE PURSE SNATCHER

Takes Bag Containing Ruby Ring; Arrested Half-Hour Later

Jack Bourgeois, 19, who said he was from St. Louis, Mo., was arrested last night by Police Sergeant H. T. Ward, less than 30 minutes after he allegedly snatched a purse from the hands of Mrs. G. W. Bell of 2718 DeSard street.

Mrs. Bell reported the theft of the purse about 8:30 o'clock, stating that the purse contained a ruby ring valued at $80 and some papers, had been snatched out of her hand by a white youth while she was standing at the corner of DeSard and North Third streets waiting for a bus.

After taking the purse the youth ran down DeSard street to North Fourth street while several men gave chase. They lost sight of the youth near the Illinois Central railroad.

Less than half an hour later Sergeant Ward, who had been notified of the theft and was searching in the neighborhood of the Illinois Central railroad near Five Points, saw a cap lying beside a boxcar. Continuing his investigation Sergeant Ward saw the youth on top of the car. The latter, seeing the officer, called out "I'm the one who stole the lady's purse," and climbing down from the roof of the boxcar surrendered to the officer and gave up the purse the contents of which were found upon examination to be intact.

Bourgeois told the police that he hitchhiked from Shreveport arriving in Monroe yesterday afternoon at 2

ROSELAND COMPANY RECEIVER NAMED

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 21.—(AP)—An announcement was made today that a receiver had been appointed for the Roseland Manufacturing company, one of two Tangipahoa parish box plants which have been strike-ridden in a wage controversy since early in August.

The Roseland plant and its affiliated company, the Hammond Box company, at Hammond, are joint defendants in a hearing Tuesday before the national labor relations board on charges of unfair labor practices. The hearing was set for Hammond.

The receiver was appointed by Judge Wayne G. Borah of federal court here on application of the Four-Box Makers of Rockaway, N. J., which claimed the Roseland company owed $19,623 for equipment.

The Roseland company also admitted indebtedness to others amounting to $100,000.

H. J. Carter, district court clerk, announced that O. W. Herring of Tangipahoa parish had qualified as receiver, and Charles H. Lorne, N. J. R. R. director here, said the receivership would not affect plans for the hearing.

Governor Richard W. Leche yesterday informed the board that he would act as counsel individually for a group of workers on strike.

The governor intervened in the strike on behalf of the workers and led them from soup kitchens.

SAYS WAR OVER CZECHOSLOVAKIA MUST NOT START

Official Says It Would Be Like Beginning Of Fire In High Wind

ARRAY OF STATESMEN IN ENGLAND TALKS SOLEMNLY

Inskip Predicts Events In Disputed Nation Moving To 'Decisive Issue'

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Great Britain today gravely warned Adolf Hitler—without mentioning him—that he must not start a war over Czechoslovakia in which Britain might have to fight.

The British government showed its deep concern over the middle European crisis by two statements.

The foreign office issued a plan to "all quarters" to lessen Czechoslovak tension and praised the Prague government's "conciliatory attitude" in negotiating with its troublesome Nazi-supported German minority.

2. Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, reiterated Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's assertion that Britain would be "unlikely" to be able to keep out of a European war.

At the same time Britain's powerful Home Fleet was ordered to the North sea for autumn maneuvers starting September 6.

The admiralty emphasized that the order was for the fleet's usual three-yearly practice, but it came at a time when Europe is tense in fear of war.

A concerted array of British statesmen moved firmly but pleadingly to halt middle Europe's brewing conflict before it starts.

At their head was Sir John, who warned armament-bringing Germany that the beginning of a conflict is like the beginning of a fire in a high wind.

"It may be limited at the start. But who can say how far it would spread . . . or how many may be called upon to heat it out."

Along with Simon and the usually light-hearted foreign office, Winston Churchill, minister of defense, and Chamberlain, minister of foreign affairs, beseeched the grave concern of the British empire over the fate of Czechoslovakia.

ONE DROWNED, 3 HURT IN CRASH

Tanker And Tug Towing Barges Collide 60 Miles Below New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A collision between a tanker and a tug towing barges early today caused the death of Cullen J. Stinson, 23, New Orleans, acting mate aboard the tug and injured three persons on the tug.

The accident happened while the boats were rounding a bend in the Mississippi river at 60-mile point below New Orleans. The vessels involved were the tug J. L. Dickey of the Lester F. Alexander Company, Inc., and the oil tanker Pacific Stinson and Defense are downed on the submerged starboard deck of the tug and his body had not been recovered.

The injured men were brought to New Orleans for treatment. They were: Gayton E. Causey, 44, Greenville, Miss., second engineer, arrested and arrested; Captain John E. Stinson, 43, lacerated head, shock and brain concussion and Burnette Bordelon, 24, Bordelonville, cook, broken right thumb.

CONDITION OF BATES CONTINUES SERIOUS

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Practically no change in the condition of Male Lott, 23, of Texas, alias Carl Bates, escaped convict who was shot here early Thursday by Patrolman J. E. Forey, after he was arrested and arrested, was reported today. Bates had been in the hospital since Friday when it was termed grave. Chastity hospital attendants said today. Lott rallied slightly Friday afternoon following a blood transfusion given with blood supplied by his brother.

Lott was shot through the left back, the bullet piercing the lung and cutting out of the front left side of his body just above the heart.

TEMPORARY DAMS' USE IS FAVORED

Proposed As Method Of Checking Erosion And Building Up Soil Deposits

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Use of temporary dams constructed of brush and poles to build up soil deposits in gullies and check erosion in southern farm lands was recommended today in a paper released by the southern forest experiment station.

The dams are advocated for lands not valuable enough to warrant costly reforestation, where drainage areas of no more than several acres drain through gullies three to 20 feet wide. They call for loppings, unmerchantable tops and cuttings from damaged trees and usually no more than one to seven hours' work.

The station suggests four types of dams, a simple obstruction formed by laying brush boughs across the channel and weighting them down with logs; sturdy dams formed by laying the brush lengthwise of the channel and anchoring it with posts or staked poles or by setting a double row of posts across the channel and filling in between with brush crosswise, and a pole-frame dam, a pole framework backfilled with brush and tied down with a midchannel anchor post.

The dams are intended to last no more than five years, with their primary objective to accumulate enough soil deposits to grow vegetation, rather than to stop the flow of water altogether, and waterlight dams are not recommended.

Straw, loose rock, logs and woven wire are used also in sections where they are available. H. G. Maginnis, silviculturist, prepared the paper.

SHRIMP CANNERIES SAY $7 BEST PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A statement issued tonight over the names of 12 shrimp packing companies in Louisiana said $7 per barrel for raw shrimp "is the highest price that canners can pay and offer employment to the thousands of needy people now idle in the industry."

Last night W. L. Baker, fishermen's union official, prominent in the "strike" by unions for $8.50 a barrel, said an agreement had been reached whereby canneries would open by September 1 and pay $8 a barrel. Baker added, "We agreed that this is the solution to the whole matter, but those canneries that do not open by midnight, September 1, will have to pay $8 a barrel. Also the $8 price will remain effective only until September 10."

The packers who issued the statement tonight said that "depressed conditions" throughout the country and the low prices of numerous competitive items in canned foods "made $7 a barrel the best price that could be paid."

The shrimp "strike," which began shortly after the season opened August 10, was marked by violence and a number of arrests. Some large quantities of shrimp were dumped by striking fishermen while being taken to New Orleans markets.

VIEWS OF NEW COMPRESSOR STATION

Here are two views of the Southern Carbon company's new compressor station, now nearing completion at Fairbanks. The top picture is a view looking west from the A. and L. M. railroad east of the plant, showing, left to right, the cooling tower, lubricating oil tank, outlet gas scrubbers in left center foreground, water tank, auxiliary building in right center background, and main compressor building at extreme right. The second picture is a view of compressors from east of the building, showing power ends, with main silencers and exhausts extending through the roof of the building.

$250,000 Project Near Completion At Fairbanks

Payroll Of Compressor Station Will Be $1,500 Monthly

A quarter of a million dollar project that will add $1,500 monthly to the aggregate payroll of this vicinity is nearing completion on the outskirts of the town of Fairbanks.

It is the Fairbanks compressor station of the Southern Carbon company. Without fanfare, the station has been under construction since the middle of May. It is now in its final stages and officials of the carbon company hope to put it in operation September 1.

Located approximately 14 miles north and slightly east of Monroe, the station is in section 37, township 19 north, range 4 east, of Ouachita parish. It is to be operated, when completed, by the Columbian Gasoline corporation, the staff of which designed the plant, selected its equipment and is supervising construction.

With a discharge pressure of 110-pound gauge, the station, when placed in operation, will be capable of compressing 20,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily from an intake pressure of 20-pound gauge.

While this condition is taken as initial, the suction pressure may drop below 20 pounds. In fact, it is virtually certain to decrease gradually until it reaches 10 pounds, or less.

When it does, it will be necessary to add more machines. This contingency has been provided for in the plans, the station being so designed that additional machines may be added with a minimum impairment of service.

The cost of the project is represented principally by machinery and a 16-inch pipe line extending from Perryville to Fairbanks.

The plant is housed in four steel-frame, sheet-metal-clad buildings. The main structure, known as the compressor building, is 128 feet long, 34 feet wide and 12 feet high. Next in importance is the auxiliary building, which is 88 feet long, 30 feet wide and 12 feet high. Then there are a combined fire engine and supply house 20 feet long, 12 feet wide and 8 feet high and a pump house 12 feet long, 10 feet wide and 8 feet high.

The cost of the station complete is placed at $175,000; of the pipe line, at $75,000.

The pipe line is a gathering line and will bring natural gas from the wells of the Monroe field to the compressor station.

Latest developments in pipe-line transportation of natural gas are incorporated in the station. But the engineers of the Columbian Gasoline corporation are better qualified to explain them than anyone else. One of them did so as follows:

"The station is being constructed with a dual header system which will enable operators, by segregating machines, to operate at two different suction and discharge pressures. This feature will also enable the station to increase its capacity by taking in a higher suction pressure on certain machines, with the discharge pressure the same on all machines. This arrangement is also convenient because it will allow two-stage compression with very few changes, when the suction pressure drops below 10-pound gauge. It was thought desirable to design the station in this manner, which will allow a discharge pressure of 25-pound gauge in an emergency, in order to protect the interests of the Southern Gas Line, Inc.'s, consumers on the Alexandria gas line. The station is also connected to and provides additional security to gas demands on the pipe line to the city of Monroe. There is another departure from the usual station practice, as used elsewhere by the affiliated companies of the Southern Carbon company, in that the jacket water cooling system is a true closed system. This means that the water is circulated, takes heat from the engines and is cooled and recirculated without being allowed to come in contact with the air, thereby evaporating and causing concentration of impurities. This system, while more expensive to install, saves a great deal of trouble caused by corrosion of engine jackets and pipe lines."

"Pressure on the closed jacket system will be controlled by a 50,000-gallon elevated steel tank. This is a railroad type steel tank with an effective height of 60 feet. This tank floats on the jacket water line from the pumps to the engines."

"The main compressors in the station consist of seven Cooper-Bessmer type 12, two cycle, 250 horsepower twin horizontal gas engines, directly connected to the gas compressor cylinders. This makes a total of 1,750 horsepower, with provisions made to add three more like machines, which will eventually bring the total horsepower to 2,625."

"All power for electric motors and lights in the station will be generated by three Cooper-Bessmer type GAW, 140 horsepower horizontal, two cylinder, two cycle gas engines. These engines will be connected by V-belt drive with 100 kilowatt, 440 volt, 60 cycle, three phase General Electric generators with direct-connected exciters. There will be three units, one to be used as a stand-by. The switchboard and connection cables will be General Electric. The engines are equipped with electric motor controlled governors, giving a close control of speed in order to facilitate synchronizing. In addition to supplying the power and light requirements of the station, these generators will supply domestic requirements for dwelling houses of company employees in the town of Fairbanks. This supply is distributed through transformers at 110 volts."

"A rather unusual departure was followed in designing the exhausts from the gas engines on the compressors and generators. The exhaust pipes run upward through the roofs of the buildings, with the silencers above the roof line. The exhaust pipes are jacketed in a sheet metal hood, which serves the double purpose of cooling the exhaust pipes and ventilating the building."

Water for fire protection at the station is provided by a centrifugal motor driven pump, with suction connection to the cooling tower basin and discharge connection to fire mains and hydrants. The fire-fighting apparatus to be maintained there consists of a hose reel cart and a foam generator, or chemical tank, mounted on wheels."

WITH PRODUCER FINISHED EL DORADO, Ark., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Phillips Petroleum company today completed the 6th producer from the Jones sand of the Shuler oil field. The well was Sewell No. 1 in section 7-18-17. No gauge was available on the well tonight, but officials said it appeared to rank with other producers in the field.

PROPOSED CANE PRICE ATTACKED

Louisiana Growers And Processors Fear Industry In State May Be Wrecked

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Louisiana growers and processors charged today that the "fair price" for sugar cane recommended to the agricultural adjustment administration, if ordered, might wreck the industry in Louisiana.

The charge was contained in a supplemental brief prepared for the group by Robert E. Brumby, of Franklin, La., counsel for the grower-processors committee. It was sent to Washington for filing with the sugar section of the AAA, which made the price recommendation.

The federal recommendation is that the 1938 price be $1 per ton for each cent of the price per pound of raw sugar with 3 cents as the base price. For each decline or advance of 1-4 cent a pound below or above 3 cents the price must be reduced or increased by two per cent.

The Louisiana group contends that the differential should be three per cent, not two per cent, as it was in 1937 and 1938. Raw sugar is now selling at about 2.75 cents a pound, which means the grower will receive about $2.50 per ton for his cane.

"If both parties face a loss under the existing and recommended price," the group said, "the committee can see no justification in changing the price of cane so as to lessen the loss to the grower who is compensated by benefit payments and increase it to the processor who has no compensating advantage."

"If the sugar section desired to curtail the production of cane in Louisiana," the brief said, "or if it desired to destroy the industry while remaining inside the letter of the law, no better way could be devised than to undertake to make the mills pay more for cane than is economically justified."

The grower-processors committee said the sugar section's recommendation was unsupported by any reasons, was, in part, beyond the scope of the secretary of agriculture and was an ex parte action which ignored suggestions made at a hearing in Baton Rouge, La., May 17.

RUSTON NEGRO TO BE TRIED MONDAY ON LIQUOR CHARGE

RUSTON, La., Aug. 27.—(Special)—In the first bootlegging case at Ruston since the present dry laws became effective on February 15, A. J. Wilkerson, local negro, will be tried before City Judge C. A. Barnett here Monday afternoon. Unable to post bond of $250, the negro is being held in the city jail.

Wilkerson was arrested by City Policemen B. J. Taylor and Ed Neal, during a dance in a negro section here. In a car being used by the negro the officers said they found six half-pints of gin and three half-pints of whiskey, believed to be the remaining quantity of a full case bought at Arcadia.

The patrolmen have located two witnesses who stated they bought liquor from Wilkerson. The two witnesses, both negroes, will be summoned to testify at the trial. This will be the first case involving the sale of liquor here since the city and parish laws became effective, and there has been only one conviction for the handling of beer preparatory to sale, the arrest occurring in the latter case at the time the beer was being unloaded at a Ruston cafe, it is said.

The parish and city voted last December to ban intoxicating beverages by a majority of about three to one.

BAILEY ANNOUNCES FOR MISSISSIPPI GOVERNOR

MERIDIAN, Miss., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Thomas L. Bailey of Meridian tonight announced his candidacy for governor of Mississippi, subject to the 1938 primaries.

Bailey has represented Lauderdale county continuously in the legislature for the last 24 years, the last 12 as speaker of the house.

He said in his announcement, "my concern for the welfare of our people and our state and knowledge of problems affecting them and their institutions gained during the years, both in study and in public service, lead me to believe that I can accept and ably serve the best interests of present and future in the high office of governor. With the aid and counsel of loyal Mississippians, I promise that the march of progress now so rapidly moving forward in Mississippi will be continued."

Community Chest Made Reality

Adoption of constitution and by-laws, election of permanent officers and the announcement made the past week that on Monday quarters will be opened at Hotel Frances lobby for the Twin City Community chest, indicate that this project is off to a substantial start. The setup that has been arranged, which affords a background composed of a group of substantial citizens evidently resolved to work conscientiously, unselfishly and with broad vision of civic needs, augurs well for the important enterprise.

W. R. Hatchell, substantial business man and civic leader, elected first president of the chest, is a selection that meets with approval of the entire community.

Monroe has been pestered by innumerable and sometimes conflicting "drives" which have required the time of busy men to complete with painstaking care; they have been oftentimes an imposition not only on the workers but on those who were so repeatedly importuned to give to this and that civic agency.

As arranged for in the constitution and by-laws, there will be required one drive a year which will eliminate other additional drives. It is believed that the public will be willing to contribute to this one drive where perhaps they did not feel so inclined when there were a series of divergent drives anticipated in all too close sequence.

A special committee will make a careful survey of the needs of the seven agencies that are asking for admission to fund participation and the personnel of this group is such that it is assured there will be made a careful and sympathetic study of each civic agency, giving each as nearly as possible the sum that seems eminently fair that they receive.

A temporary secretary will be named and later a permanent secretary will be chosen whose duties will be supervisory and such as to require his full time and careful painstaking effort. Such an official, we understand, is not to be employed too hastily but will be decided upon only after a careful survey has been made of applicants and of the field's requirements.

The civic chest idea will prove, we believe, the outstanding work of the Chamber of Commerce this year. If it has done no more for the community than this, it has accomplished something that has been desired and needed here for the past few years and was a step forward that required a large degree of forcefulness to initiate and carry into effect. We believe that much credit is due to the Chamber of Commerce, of which W. K. Anders is president.

As stated, the first offices of the new civic project will be open Monday in the lobby of Hotel Frances. It will then be up to the public to lend whole-hearted support and put the project over in a big way, proving that Monroe is determined to maintain her already well established reputation of always being up and doing and ever ready to espouse every worthy civic undertaking. This cooperation, without which no community chest or other enterprise can succeed, is earnestly desired and it is confidently believed that it will be readily forthcoming.

ATMOSPHERE FOR SALE

A new and profitable field of commercial enterprise materializes:

A report comes from Memphis that owners of plantations in the territory have been doing a little thinking about the annual "take" of dude ranches of the west, and are wondering now whether it might not be profitable to sell a little of their own old-fashioned local color, properly touched up here and there.

If the thing goes over, the rest of the country would be a sucker not to follow suit. Everybody has old-fashioned illusions about one place or another.

Let the farmers of New England build stockades against the Indians, dress their wives in full skirts and buckle shoes, and organize turkey hunts and tea-dumping parties. Speakeasies stocked with muscle-men eternally blasting away at each other with blanks would probably draw crowds to Chicago. And every state capital could run sightseeing buses to some dummy capitol building peopled with dignified gentlemen appearing to be hard at work looking out for the interests of the common man.

Oh, it ought to go over big.

THE DAILY MIRACLE

Time is the most valuable of all human possessions. It outranks love, for love is not permanent. It abides after friends are gone and wealth has vanished. Time is priceless because it is changeless. Of all other things one must say: This, too, shall pass away. Time is the only thing that never ceases to be.

[The most precious thing in life is the 24 hours which are allotted to mankind each day. Time is the changeless possession. And the more time one has the wealthier one is. And in this, youth is the wealthiest of all.]

Time is the equal possession of mankind. Without time nothing is possible. With it, all things are. Rich man, poor man, beggar man and thief, all are equally blessed by the daily miracle.

Said Emerson, "Give me health, and a day, and I will make the pomp of emperors ridiculous." Said Franklin, "If thou wouldst lay hold on life, save time, for time is the stuff that life is made of."

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Rumors of war and internal disorders are reputed to scare travelers away so we checked a tourist bureau here to find out what was happening about Mexican and European travel.

A brown-haired girl with eyes like this and that took us in tow for a brief lecture on travel and if it hadn't been for our own deeply rooted reserve we might have bought a ticket for Timbuctoo. But anyway, what she said about Mexican and European travel was this:

Ships bound for Mexico from the Atlantic seaboard are billed to capacity. They can make no reservations during August, and even September is selling out fast.

"Haven't people been reading the newspapers about Mexican labor troubles, and an almost revolution of a prominent rancher, and his men, and seizure of oil and farm lands?"

"Sure," says she, "and they want to go there nevertheless."

Then we reminded her with regard to Europe that August was a bad month for European wars but she said the tourists didn't seem to mind. Bookings for Europe were later this year than last, but that she explained was because the coronation last year started them off earlier.

People wanting to go to Europe now don't ask any questions about war possibilities. In 1914 an awful lot of Americans went to Europe in spite of current war scares which they forgot to ask about. Some of them had a peaky time getting back home.

Corn Tempest

While there is yet no war in Europe (outside of Spain) there almost was a war in the department of agriculture when officials mixed signals on deciding what the corn supply was to be.

A lot depended on the amount of corn. If the estimated total of this year's crop plus the carryover from last year exceeded certain limits, an election would have to be held in the corn belt to determine whether farmers would be compelled to lock up part of their crop to protect prices on the rest.

The department, with a smattering of rebellion on its hands in the corn belt already, didn't want to hold a referendum on whether to impose marketing quotas. Some officials feared farmers would defeat the proposal, and thus throw down the farm law in its first real test.

The Winner

The department and the corn crop were like two boys spoiling for a fight. One says: "If you cross this line I'll hit you."

Early this year the department says: If the estimated corn supply (crop plus carryover) passes 2,773,000,000 bushels, we must call for a marketing quota referendum.

Well, the estimated crop and carryover passed that level and the department, backing away, then said: If the supply passes 2,833,000,000 bushels, we surely must call for a marketing quota. That was in July. And the estimated supply did pass that figure. In August, the department, by law, couldn't back off any farther. It said: If the supply passes 2,913,000,000 bushels, we can't escape asking marketing quotas.

There arose the hitch. One bureau of the department said the carryover would be 330,000,000 bushels as a minimum. That would have forced the total above 2,913,000,000—the deadline. Almost in a fury higher department officials contradicted the 330,000,000 bushel estimate, insisting it would be only 320,000,000. That brought the total estimated supply down to 2,866,000,000 bushels and saved the day. No quota referendum was needed.

WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT

By BRUCE CATTION

Sometimes, surveying this confused world of ours, it is a little hard to figure out just who is kidding whom. The line that separates the charlatan from the statesman gets awfully thin, at times.

A few days ago the New York Times went to the trouble to print a verbatim stenographic report of a speech delivered by Father Divine to a flock of the faithful in one of his "Heavens" near New York City. To a nonmember of the cult, it makes weird but interesting reading.

A sample paragraph goes like this: "Permit me to be transmittable, permit me to be reincarnatable, permit me to be reproducible. When this is done you will see God in all mankind. . . . This is what it is all about, beloved ones, and when you build upon this foundation you will be lifted above the underprivileged and will ascend the height of perfection and go above the overprivileged and put them in their places. That is what I am doing. I am putting the overprivileged in their places."

Read through a couple of columns like that, trying earnestly to figure out what it means, and you get a tantalizing feeling that you have heard something very like it before. It's hard to place, but you think and think—and then, at last, you have it: It sounds just like a speech by one of the more strident European dictators!

The technique is much the same; the emotional appeal is the same, and the intellectual content of the message is the same.

That, probably, is really an insult to Father Divine. He preaches peace, and by and large his career probably has been for less unrest rather than more. But the broad lines of the appeals are much the same.

For the dictator has the same technique of aiming his appeal at the emotions rather than at the reason. He knows, too, the trick of appealing to discontent, of pouring forth a string of high-sounding but fundamentally meaningless phrases, of reiterating that he and he alone holds the secret—and, finally, of pointing to some sort of promised land which will be entered if people will just follow him and say nothing.

Is that an unfair comparison? Read some of the dictators' speeches some time and see for yourself. The parallel is uncanny.

And that is a measure of the utter confusion of our time.

That a group of underprivileged colored people should follow Father Divine is not at all surprising. But that whole nations should flock after these assorted Father-Divines-in-uniform, surrendering their destinies to them and empowering them to go forth and destroy the peace of the world—that is nothing less than appalling.

A BOOK REVIEW

THE GENTRY GOT UNDER HER SKIN

One of the most delightfully malicious books of the year is Margaret Halsey's "With Malice Toward Some." In this sparkling and witty book Miss Halsey steps right up to the hands-across-the-sea tradition and gives its venerable whippers an irreverent jerk.

The American-born wife of an American professor, she went to England for a year when her husband took an exchange professorship in a provincial English university.

She liked the country itself very well indeed; it was neat, green and clean, its farms looked like parks and its parks looked like formal gardens, it had an appealing air of being fertile, hospitable, and well-cared for. And she found the "lower classes" very friendly and easy to get on with.

But the upper classes were something else again. Among them, Miss Halsey found an ingrained snobbery, an abysmal ignorance of everything not British, a thinly disguised fear and jealousy of all things American, a fatuous self-satisfaction and a tenacious adoration of things-as-they-are, which seem to be little less than appalling.

Reading her account of the gentry's habits of thought, one understands many things—the teapot-tempest over King Edward and Mrs. Simpson, the archbishop of Canterbury, Prime Minister Chamberlain's "realism," and the decline and fall of Ramsay MacDonald.

All in all, it's a book which makes extremely entertaining reading.

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1936, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The big town is not necessarily in the van of progress. Many small interior cities had electric trolleys long before New York got them, this being merely one of many instances in which change and innovation started in the sticks. Again, the Manhattan crossroads is away behind the times, as Madison Square Garden just now discovers sofitball.

The Amateur Softball Association of America, affiliated with the A. A. U., is the largest amateur sport body in the world. Estimates of men and women now playing softball in America run as high as 15,000,000. There are about 9,000 diamonds and 70,000 teams in 800 cities, in nearly every state in the union.

Specialists in recreation and public health have moaned a lot about our specialization in sports, as contrasted to the widespread public participation in England, where the entire office staff will knock off late in the afternoon for a game of cricket, or the oldsters participating. Softball seems to be the answer. It is a twilight or evening game, with simple equipment, small playing space and much easier on hardening arteries or a slackening heart than any popular game, saving golf. It is luring the office-bound and city-bogged by the million.

Women's baseball teams never have stacked up impressively against men's teams. I remember the touring Red Stockings of thirty years ago, and several later teams, which did well enough, but demonstrated for good and all that a woman's arm just isn't made for over-hand throwing. I haven't consulted Gray's anatomy on this, but the sports writers tell me there is a structural difference in the arms and shoulder sockets of men and women; that no matter how young a girl might be when she started hurling, she never could become an over-hand pitcher. Babe Didrikson, versatile as a trap-drummer in all sports of either gender, is a possible exception, but Babe is a bit of a physiological freak in this.

The under-hand pitch of softball solves this problem. There is no reason why a husky girl shouldn't get as much steam into a softball pitch as a man, and that is what the Garden's Roverettes are doing. The girls keep their amateur standing, getting nothing for playing, but with the mounting public interest it appears that it is ready for some professional offshoot, and that girl athletes will find gleaming comparable to those of hockey and professional baseball.

The ball is larger, the bat is shorter and the distances between the bases less than in baseball. The ball, however, is somewhat harder than the indoor baseball, from which game this is a derivative, and packed with the fiber of the kapok tree, the bounce necessary for a fast game. One account of the origin of softball puts it in Chicago in 1887, with the Farragut Boat Club. Another, which seems more authentic, traces it to St. Paul, about 25 years ago. It was called "kitten ball" then, as the balls made by a St. Paul fireman, carried the likeness of a kitten. The depression years boomed it no end, as with shorter hours, the five-day week and the public need for inexpensive, corner lot recreation millions took up the pastime.

The main difference between softball and ordinary baseball is that the former has a ten-man team, the extra man being a sort of roving outfielder. So far, they have made amply. But what about civility and all that when some lady Joe DiMaggio socks the umpire? It can happen here.

I have often thought somebody might make a good newspaper feature called "Missing Today." It would provide a daily background of late and great personalities of significance in the run of the news. And my selection today would be John Sharp Williams, for the back-drop of this Georgia senatorial passage. Senator Walter George, a personage of erudition and dignity, is putting up a splendid, two-listed fight. But one can't help thinking of the fireworks John Sharp Williams would touch off in a scrap like that. The lean, wizened gentleman from Mississippi, in the senate for 40 years, was the ace battler of any age, weight or class among statesmen of his day. He was in and of the deep south, this sage of Yazoo City, Miss., but there were no tendrils of swampy sink in his hair and he never found it necessary to be ostentatiously homespun or snare votes by bad grammar. He pinked many a roaring, Behemoth with a rapier thrust of his biting wit, and his was the fastest ferce and riposte in senatorial debate ever known at Washington. A fast workout in the senate by John Sharp Williams was worth a $5 top in the gallery any day—if he had been charging admission. I don't know just how he would work into this Georgia rowdy-dowdy, but somehow I wish he were there.

The other day at lunch, my host and I talked about Andrew Lengyel of Passaic, N. J., the sweepstakes winner of two years ago, who had just committed suicide, after blowing in his money. We agreed that this get-rich-quick thing was bad business and, between us, we voiced a little homily about the demoralization of the country—nobody wanting to work; any more and young people corrupted by the phantom lure of easy gain, and so on and so on. The talk turned to other things and when lunch was finished we had forgotten all this.

As my friend took out his wallet to pay the check, a bit of cardboard fluttered out. His face lit with a bright, eager look as he picked it up. "Sweepstakes ticket," he said. "I'm going to town on that. Just watch my smoke."

It seemed to me that that was a natural as a foot-note for "The Human Side of the News."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Detmer

WASHINGTON—As they used to say back in the days of Ramses II, life is funny.

Dr. Willard L. Thorp, economist, is qualified to appreciate the fact. Thorp was recruited in earliest New Deal days to be director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. As an Amherst professor, he had made best use of his vote by registering as a Republican.

Theodore Bilbo, since known in Mississippi as "Pasternack General," because he was then clipping and pasting newspaper items for AAA at $6,000 a year, learned of this skeleton in the Thorp closet and charged in his senatorial campaign against Senator Hubert Stephens that Stephens was the type of politician who supported Republicans for office while many good Mississippians went plumb.

Stephens, as chairman of the senate commerce committee, answered this foul slur by blocking Thorp's confirmation and forcing him out. He was aided in this by patronage-minded minor officials of Thorp's bureau, installed by Secretary Roper. These officials lobbied desperately against the director.

Thorp was given other important New Deal posts. Bilbo beat Stephens anyway and Stephens, after a brief name-check term as an RFC director, became a Washington lawyer-lobbyist. You must know all this to appreciate such humor as there may be in the fact that Thorp lately has been reorganizing the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. The last leader of the bureau's political gang which helped cut Thorp's throat four years ago, an old now-of-a-color in which the bureau fell apart from inefficiency and lack of leadership. More bureau shakeups are imminent.

Salary Lured Thorp
The real secretary of commerce now is Assistant Secretary Richard C. Patterson, Jr., recently executive vice-president of the National Broadcasting company. Roper took a long summer vacation. He left Patterson with the worst-run department in Washington and the job of doing something about the bureau.

Then on to Patterson was piled the department's assigned part in the so-called monopoly investigation. He looked through the department, one great in prestige under Herbert Hoover—whose special pet was the bureau—and couldn't find a single man he thought capable of producing the goods.

Just before NRA was busted Thorp had been chairman of its important advisory council. D. Whitehead, a member of the NRA administrative board and president of the famous New York firm of Dun & Bradstreet, was pulling out to return to his business and persuaded Thorp to become his firm's director of economic research. Thorp was editor of Dun's Review. Thorp left to accept a salary far in excess of anything paid by the government.

Patterson's Flee
Patterson telephoned Thorp. "We're in a hell of a hole," he said. "There isn't anyone who can do this job except you. If the department can't fill this assignment, it might as well fold up."

Being human, Thorp liked this. He obtained leave and came down to handle the department's end of the "monopoly" investigation. It was only after he arrived that Patterson explained he also wanted him to make a going concern out of the bureau.

Thorp didn't mind that, either. The bureau still has able veterans, most of whom have often wished Hoover were secretary again. But as they rejoiced, many inefficient jobholders—including some who had lobbied against Thorp—quaked as they heard the news.

And Thorp is trying to do what politicians keep him from doing four years ago: To make the bureau familiar with American business problems, so business men and other government agencies can turn to it for help and information.

Here is one government agency where a businessman and an outstanding adviser of big business are running the show.

STAMP NEWS

By L. S. Klein

NO lustier supporter had Andrew Jackson than Martin Van Buren, New York lawyer, senator, staunch advocate of states' rights.

Van Buren became Jackson's secretary of state when the border captain attained the presidency in 1828 but he resigned in 1831 to accept the post of minister to England. Thereby hangs a story.

For the senate, from purely personal motives, refused to confirm Van Buren's nomination as minister after he had actually sailed for abroad. So the minister was extremely embarrassed, but instead of the incident hurting him it added only to his popularity.

With the support of Jackson he easily secured the nomination and election to the vice presidency in 1837.

Three years later Van Buren was nominated by the Democratic party and elected President over Gen. W. H. Harrison, his Whig opponent. He had hardly taken office when the panic of 1837 settled over the country, due partly to unbridled speculation and to reaction to Jackson's banking policies. In 1840 Van Buren was re-nominated for the presidency, but by now a vast party of the electorate held him directly responsible for the depression. This time General Harrison overwhelmingly defeated him. Van Buren was again a candidate in 1844 but was defeated.

The tug was pushing three barges loaded with sand and gravel while the Paco was bound for Destrehan with a petroleum cargo from Houston.

The Paco is owned by the Pennsylvania Shipping company. She continued up the river to her docks after the rescue work had been completed.

THEY'RE BOTH DOING SOMETHING ABOUT THE HEAT

Heat waves delight Professor Charles M. Heck, left, above, of the state college at Raleigh, N. C., because then he can do something about his very absorbing specialty. He's shown here way up on the 13rd floor of New York's Empire State building, with his inflexible apparatus for measuring the distance from the ground at which heat waves are absorbed in the air and re-radiated down on us suffering humans below. No suffering human is canny Ruth Warrick, right, radio actress. Looking for a cool spot to study her lines, she squeezed into a refrigerator. And there's the picture to prove it's a cold fact.

17 MORE FIRMS GET EXEMPTIONS

Total Construction Cost Of New Plants And Additions Passes $60,000,000

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Seventeen tax exemption contracts totaling $4,786,470 have been signed by Governor Richard W. Leche following their approval by the board of the state department of commerce and industry. It was announced today by Commodore Ernest Lee Jahnecke, executive director of the commerce and industry department.

"Today's group of contracts brings to 164 the number of new manufacturing industries or industrial additions that have been granted tax exemptions on plant construction since the exemption amendment was written into the constitution in 1934," Commodore Jahnecke said.

The total construction costs of new plants and additions since the law went into effect is now well past $60,000,000, he pointed out.

The 17 firms granted the exemption and the amount of their construction, are as follows: Jones Bros. Gin company, Warden, cotton gin, $18,000; Alexandria Steam Laundry, Inc., Alexandria, additions to laundry, $15,531; the Advance Bag and Paper company, Inc., Hodge, addition, $300,000; Louisiana Ice and Electric company, Alexandria, electric generating plant, $423,250; Sanitary bakery, Lake Charles, additions, $19,000; The Electric company, Inc., New Orleans, additions to Market street generating station, $2,485,100; People's Gas and Fuel company, Inc., Westport, additions to gas distributing system, $28,000; Thomas Lumber company, Winnfield, additions to sawmill plant, $15,000; Lake Arthur Refining company, Inc., plant near Gueyden for refining oil, $7,650; Pure Transportation company, Cameron parish, additions to pipe lines and tanks, Terminal company, $194,000; Mrs. C. C. Bridger, Columbia, cotton gin, $18,250; Best Electric company, Inc., New Orleans, additions to plant for manufacturing electrical equipment, $6,802; Southern Natural gas company, Quantico, additions to gas compressing station, $210,000; Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, Shreveport, additions to plant, $75,000.

"More than 750 employees will be engaged in the operation of the new firms and additions," Commodore Jahnecke said.

32 MEN DIE AS SHIP ATTACKED

Carrero point insurgent batteries cooperated in playing searchlights upon the Jose Luis Diaz. The attacked vessel returned the fire.

After 1-1/2 hours of heavy firing which awoke Gibraltar, a shell from the Canarias hit the portside bow, trapping the 30 men and damaging the engine room.

Feeling his ship would sink, Antonio Castro changed his course and sped for Gibraltar, where his wounded were landed.

Thousands had watched the brilliant fireworks display of searchlights and bursting shells from vantage points on the Rock of Gibraltar. Explaining the Jose Luis Diaz left Huelva, France, a week ago for a Mediterranean port, Antonio Castro said proudly tonight:

"If the engine room had not been damaged in the fighting we would have gone on fighting until the last member of the crew was no longer alive."

Dispatches from Burgos, insurgent headquarters, said insurgent officials expected the British either would intern the vessel or hand her over to the insurgent fleet. But the British admiralty indicated she would be permitted to proceed as soon as she was repaired.

Weather bureau forecasters said the heat was fanned by a good deal of north winds from a relatively high pressure area over the Mississippi valley in the absence of moisture. An early morning thunder squall over New Orleans lowered the temperature slightly from yesterday's six-year record of 100 degrees and a 40-mile velocity wind grounded small fishing craft along the Mississippi gulf coast.

At noon today Atlanta had 90 degrees, Birmingham 88, Jacksonville 84, St. Petersburg 80 and Miami 58 with the mercury still rising.

Yesterday Dothan, southeast Alabama, reported 104 degrees, Birmingham 102 maximum, Little Rock, Memphis and Savannah 100 degrees, Dallas 98 and many other cities high nineties. Generally fair weather in the interior and partly cloudy along the coast was forecast for Sunday.

POLICY BANKS IN NEW YORK RAIDED

Action Comes During Hines Trial For Giving Racketeers Protection

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Amid a crackle of police raids on policy banks, opposing counsel mapped new strategy tonight in a stormy court battle over the political honesty of a Tammany titan.

Providing a noisy obligato to the trial of James J. Hines, Democratic district judge accused of selling his influence to the operators of a huge policy racket, police raided two suspected gambling hideouts during the night and took 24 prisoners.

Two women seized in one of the raids were identified by Police Lieutenant James W. Hennessy as witnesses in the state's case against Hines.

The women, Williamina Hammond, 28, and Leslie Ware, 36, a negro, testified briefly last week, saying they won quick freedom on a policy arrest during the period in which Hines allegedly was receiving $300 a week to "fix" cases for the late Arthur (Dutch) Schultz, Fliegerheimer, slain gang czar.

Arraigned with six men today on charges of operating a newly organized policy "bank," the women were told by Municipal Michael A. Ford to "get ready for a shock."

"Instead of being discharged, as they had testified they were when brought before another judge several years ago, they were held in $1,000 bail each. Juan Campas, 48, and Anacito Romero, 35, accused of being the bankers, were held in $5,000 bail each. Bail was fixed at $1,000 each for the four other men.

In a second raid on a Harlem apartment police arrested 16 negroes, charging one of them with possession of policy slips and the others with disorderly card playing.

Meanwhile Hines, who stood up in court and denounced a witness who sought to link him with the Schultz gang as a liar, went into seclusion over the week-end while his attorneys perfected plans for a counter attack against testimony yet to come—the nature of which they could only guess at.

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey kept his firing order secret but he was reported to have at least 30 more witnesses ready to add to the testimony of the 10 called during the first two weeks of the trial.

Lloyd Paul Stryker, chief defense counsel, reportedly had investigators scouting the vicinity of Bridgeport, Conn., gathering data on the personal histories of persons who may be called by the state this week to corroborate testimony that Hines was seen in Schultz's company there.

Not the least of those who may be called this week is J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, disbarred lawyer who allegedly was the legal "brains" behind the Schultz mob, and possibly "Dixie's" showgirl sweetheart, red-haired Hope Davis. Davis has pleaded guilty to the started their fall struggle to retain control of the Keystone state with a rally at Hershey, Pa.

HOPES PRESIDENT WILL GO SUNDAY

Politicians in the capital looked for the next big political news to come from South Carolina and California, where nominations to the United States senate are at stake in primary elections Tuesday.

In South Carolina Senator Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith is running for renomination against opponents who have denounced him as an opponent of the New Deal and who themselves are running as "100 per cent" Roosevelt supporters.

In California, Senator William Gibbs McAdoo is contesting in a field of six for Democratic renomination. He has received President Roosevelt's blessing.

Keynoting for the Republicans at the Capehart farm near Washington, Ind., Representative James W. Wadsworth of New York accused the president of being responsible "more than any other person or group" for what he called the "second or Roosevelt depression."

In Pennsylvania Charles Alvin Jones, Democratic nominee for governor of Pennsylvania, urged party workers to spread a message of progress in the "great crusade" for New Deal principles.

Governor George H. Earle, the party nominee for senator, cut short a flying vacation in Central America to deliver the keynote address at the Hershey meeting.

Although the primary campaign in South Carolina ended officially Friday night with the last of 46 "battle royal" meetings in which all candidates were on the same platform and took consecutive verbal punches at one another—the oratorical thunder rumbled on.

Besides Senator Smith the other candidates were Governor Olin D. Johnston, and State Senator Edgar A. Brown.

Elsewhere on the political front, Senator Murray, Democrat, Montana.

DUCE EXAMINES NEW GUN

Peering at death for someone in the future, Premier Benito Mussolini uses no crystal globe but a new type of trench mortar. This photo of the Italian dictator was snapped during the recent extensive army maneuvers in the Abruzzi mountains and shows him adjusting the sights of one of Italy's latest weapons.

A member of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, commented that he would vote to have that group support Senator Pope, Democrat, Idaho, if the latter decided to ask reelection as an independent. Pope has been considering such a course since his defeat in the primary by Representative D. Worth Clark, who told the voters he would not be an "administration yes-man."

Another development was an announcement by Representative David J. Lewis, New Deal-favored primary opponent of Senator William E. Tydings, that President Roosevelt would probably visit Maryland next Sunday. Lewis said the president's trip into the state should be historic.

BROWN WITHDRAWS IN SOUTH CAROLINA RACE

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 27.—(P)—The withdrawal of a candidate tonight left the South Carolina senatorial contest a two-man race between the incumbent, E. D. (Cotton Ed) Smith, and youthful Governor Olin D. Johnston, who has described himself as a "100 per cent Roosevelt supporter."

Edgar A. Brown, of Danville, a veteran member of the state legislature, announced in an eleventh-hour statement that he would not be a candidate in Tuesday's Democratic primary.

Brown, who also campaigned as a New Deal supporter, said that he had arrived at the conclusion he was the third man in the race, and that unless he withdrew there would have to be a run-off primary between Smith and Johnston.

RATE OF COTTON LOANS REVEALED

ers loans averaging about 60 cents a bushel. However, wheat prices on farms average about 8 cents a bushel below the loan rate because, officials said, of excessive supplies.

Although southern farm leaders and congressmen had asked for a base cotton loan rate of about 12 cents a pound, the department set the rate near the minimum allowed by the new crop control law—8.30 cents a pound on 7-8 inch middling. Differentials were established for other grades and staple lengths. The base rate was 9 cents a pound last year and 12 cents a pound in 1934.

The rates range from 5.30 cents on 13-16 inch low middling white and extra white grades to 10.75 cents on 1-5 inch or longer good middling and better qualities of the same grade.

The department explained it set the rate near the minimum for two reasons: the existence of a large world supply of cotton and the fact that the government already holds about 7,000,000 bales put up as collateral for previous loans.

The 1938 base rate compared with an average price of 60 cents on the ten spot cotton market today.

Officials said that had the rate been established above current price levels, exports would have been discouraged. Foreign buyers would have been inclined, they said, to turn to other countries which could buy cheaper. The department has declared its intention to hold foreign markets for American farm products.

Officials anticipated some grower dissatisfaction with the cotton loan rate, but they expressed the opinion many would take advantage of it. Growers would not be everything to gain and nothing to lose, they declared.

They explained that in the event cotton prices were below the loan rate at the time of the loan maturity, the borrower would be free to surrender his price of full payment of his obligation. The government would assume any loss.

On the other hand, should prices increase, the borrower could pay off the loan and sell his cotton at the higher price.

All federal commodity loans are made by the Commodity Credit Corporation. That agency set aside $100,000,000 for cotton loans and $20,000,000 for loans on 1937 corn.

Banks and other lending agencies may make the loans to producers and sell the notes to the Commodity Credit Corporation by government benefit payments to be made during the next crop loans August 1, 1939, and the 1937 corn loans July 1, 1938.

Officials said the income cotton producers would receive from cotton sold on the market or placed under loan would be substantially supplemented by government benefit payments to be made during the next few months. They estimated these payments would amount to about $200,000,000.

Only those cotton growers who planted within their 1938 cotton acreage allotments will be eligible for the full loan rates. Non-cooperators will be eligible for loans at 60 per cent of the rate applicable to cooperating producers and only on that part of their production in excess of their marketing quotas.

Simon used a small conservative party rally at Lenark, Scotland, as a sounding board to warn Hitler.

"This very case of Czechoslovakia may be so critical for the future of Europe that it would be impossible to assume a limit to the disturbance that a conflict might involve, and every one in every country who considers the consequences has to bear that in mind."

The former foreign minister's words were an unmistakable warning to Germany against using force to settle the minority issue.

His speech reiterated in even plainer terms the position Chamberlain took March 24, refusing a prior guarantee of aid to the Czechs but warning Germany conflict could not be limited to those immediately involved.

At the same time, Inskip, the minister responsible for coordinating British defenses, predicted events in Czechoslovakia "are moving to a decisive issue."

He declared in a speech near Perth that war is not inevitable while Britain is trying to keep the peace "because a nation as united as ours on essential questions possesses strength that nothing can shake."

Winston Churchill, the wartime first lord of the admiralty, in a speech at Theveton Bois, accused Hitler of "endangering peace" by putting 1,500,000 soldiers on a wartime footing.

Churchill mentioned the possibility that "Europe and the civilized world would have to face the demands of Nazi Germany" as a result of failure of Czech-Sudeten negotiations "or perhaps be confronted . . . with some sudden violent action on the part of the German Nazi party carrying with it invasion of that small country with view to its subjugation."

HULL REMINDS OF KELLOGG-BRIAND PACT
WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—(P)—Secretary Hull pointedly reminded bellicose nations today, on the tenth birthday of the Kellogg-Briand pact, of their "solemn pledges" to refrain from war.

"It is the great tragedy of today," the secretary of state added, that "in certain parts of the world strife and conflict are bringing untold misery to millions, and in other parts the idea of warfare is being actually glorified."

"On the observance of non-observance of the solemn pledges made ten years ago depends the preservation of all that is valuable and worth while in the life of each and every nation," he asserted.

COTTON STATES PLAYOFF BEGINS TUESDAY

MONROE TO PLAY PORTERS; BUCKS MEET EL DORADO

Opening Games Of Preliminary Series To Be Played At Helena, Greenville

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Cotton States league Shaughnessy play-off will get underway Tuesday August 30, J. Walter Morris, league president, said here tonight.

Opening games will find El Dorado, fourth place club, meeting the league leading Greenville Buckshots on the latter's diamond, and Monroe, third place, taking on the second berth Helena Seaporters in the Arkansas city.

Umpires selected to work the Greenville-El Dorado series are Ellis, Wilder, Orlick, and Edwards, while Welsh, Wilson, Thompson and Rowe will handle the Monroe-Helena games.

The first two games will be in Helena and Greenville, and then play will be resumed in El Dorado and Monroe to finish the series.

The schedule for the finals will be arranged by a committee composed of league President Morris and presidents of the seventh and eighth place clubs. The teams will play two games a day at the opening site and then transfer to the other town. Should another game be needed, a flip of a coin will determine the site of the contests.

The opening series starting Tuesday and for the best three out of five while the title series will be the best four out of seven.

The Monroe White Sox leave here Monday for Helena where they meet the powerful Seaporters in their first game of the Cotton States league title play-off.

During the Sox recent drive into a play-off position in the league standings, the Helena aggregation proved to be about the toughest team the Sox had to contend with, and, if the Sox can win the series with Helena, they stand a mighty good chance to win the championship.

Narbut Strikes Out Ten As Errors By Arkansans Give Sox Victory

Monroe's White Sox neared the "end of the trail" at Casino park last night by defeating Hot Springs, 7 to 4, in a listless game that marked the opening of the final series of the schedule. The season closes today.

With Manager Joe Barnett, who has played various infield positions and has caught on the mound, the White Sox gained ten hits and profited by the generosity of the Bathers to chalk up a victory. Frank Narbut, on the hill for the Sox, was tagged for nine safeties but he struck out ten Bathers and walked but three. Barnett, on the other hand, walked six and fanned three. The Bathers contributed two double plays to their own cause but the real fielding features were turned in by Johnny Conway, who leaped high into the air to spear Tarrent's line drive in the ninth, and by Glenn Murray, who backed up against the fence to snag Schaefer's blow in the second frame. Narbut also made a nice play of Brown's hard hit ground-

The two runs scored by the White Sox in the first inning were unearned, and at least one of the Monroe tallies scored in the three-run rally in the fourth was unearned.

Monroe got off to an early lead with those two tallies in the first frame. Johnny Conway, who was the batting hero of the game, worked Barnett for a walk. After both Rhea and Murray had flied out, Manager Talt slapped a single to center field, sending Conway to third. On an attempted double steal, Conway scored when Catcher Costley dropped the ball on a throw from Otis Brannon at second. Pete Medak then looped a high fly just inside the foul line at third base and Talt scored when Spinetti, a pitcher who filled in at the hot corner, staggered all around the territory and then let the ball fall safe.

Hot Springs got a run back in the first of the third when Tolles led off with a single and Barnett followed with another one-bly blow. Spinetti attempted to bunt but fanned Tolles at third. Doyle Brannon fanned but Barnett managed to left center to score Barnett.

The Bathers added two more runs to go ahead in the fourth. After Costley had struck out, Schaefer beat out an infield hit. Wooten fanned but Tolles walked and then Schaefer went to third on a wild pitch. Barnett doubled to left after Tolles had stolen second, and Schaefer and Tolles scored.

Monroe came back in their half of the same inning with some lucky hitting that netted three runs and a lead that they never relinquished. Hackney hit a hard grounder to infield and was safe at first to gain an infield hit. Medak singled to left. Pruitt laid down a bunt and beat it out for a hit. Taylor hit to third and Spinetti, instead of throwing home with a cinch to force Hackney at the plate, elected to toss to first and he threw high. Hackney scored and so did Medak. Narbut hit into a double play but Conway singled to center to score Taylor.

The Bathers countered with their fourth and final run in the fifth inning. Doyle Brannon walked to start it. Brown singled to left but was out going back to first as Talt threw to Conway and Conway relayed the throw back to Medak, who tagged Brown before he could slide back safely. Brannon went to third. Otis Brannon then doubled to left to score Doyle Brannon.

The Sox tallied twice in the seventh. Radio reception, in thousands of texts, has been found to be at its best when the music is below the surface.

Rhea And Hackney Picked On League All-Star Team

Other Members Of Monroe Club Ranked High In Annual Selection

Four Greenville Bucks, three El Dorado Lions, two Monroe White Sox, two Helena Seaporters and one Greenwood Dodger make up the 1938 all-star team of the Cotton States league, picked by a vote of the circuit writers and managers. Pine Bluff, Hot Springs and Clarkdale had men in the running, but none of them could muster sufficient votes to place on the mythical aggregation.

There were no unanimous choices, but Catcher Orace Powers of El Dorado was the top-heavy favorite, getting all but two of the first-place ballots. These two went to Manager Jimmy Powell of Greenville, who was the second choice of most of the voters.

Only one of last year's all-star members was back in the lineup this season. Doodle Harper of El Dorado, the general handy man who won the utility berth in 1937, was given the same job for this year.

The feature of the "election" was the heated campaign waged by Chick Galeris of Greenville and Les Dunkle of Pine Bluff for the left-handed pitching assignment. The two were outstanding and a mighty close race resulted in Galeris' victory. Galeris noosed out his rival by a slim margin of one vote.

The outfielders also had a merry chase for places. Paul Bruno of Greenville, Beauford Rhea of Monroe and Curtis Sutherland of Helena came out in the top three, but they had stiff competition from Murray of Monroe, Roberts of Greenville, Brown of Hot Springs and Tole of El Dorado.

Bobby Cummings of Greenville was a heavy favorite for the shortstop post, with Freddy Weiler of Helena and Johnny Conway of Monroe running along in second position. A scattered field of second sackers split up the vote and made Frank Hackney of Monroe an easy winner. His stiffest opposition came from Stan Pintarel of Pine Bluff.

The veteran Elmer Yoter, Greenwood skipper, had a close battle with the younger Dexter Savage of Helena before Yoter was given the assignment at third base with a slim margin to spare.

Riggs Stephenson of Helena and Jimmy Powell of Greenville had quite a bit of support as manager of the all-star crew, but neither of them seriously threatened the lead piled up by Frank O'Rourke of the El Dorado Lions.

Mal Grant, last year's all-star first baseman, retained an appreciable following, but he was out to out Kirby Farrell of Greenville, who was installed as guardian of the initial bag. The team was compiled by the National association press bureau, which collected the votes from the scribes and pilots. Players receiving votes but placing are given below in table mention. Below are the Cotton States all-stars of 1938:

Player Position Club Farrell 1b..... Greenville Hackney 3b..... Monroe Yoter 3b..... Greenwood Cummings ss..... Greenville Bruno 1b..... Greenville Rhea 2b..... Monroe Sutherland 2b..... Helena Powers c..... El Dorado Vandenberg c..... Helena Galeris 1bp..... Greenville Harper 2bp..... El Dorado O'Rourke 3b..... El Dorado

Memorable mention: Grant, O. Brannon, Wells, Robinson, Tolles, Brown, Speer, Schaefer, Barnett and Costley of Hot Springs; Medak, Conway, Murray, Talt, Taylor, Schang, Bronkhurst and Perry of Monroe; Jones, Pintarel, Tash, Weiler, Kline, Dunkle, John Weiler, Vinson, Satter, Stephenson, McNulty and Schaefer of Helena; Cristler, Bagrosky, Rikard, Roberts, Powell, Hawkins, Beane, Archibald, and Grantham of Greenville; Gullet, Vavreck, Tole, Hearn and Hawley of El Dorado; Murray, Pavle, Ezer, Colla, Uhle, Har, Ferrisoli and Leibold of Clarkdale; Bennett, Sellers, Radney and Salvason of Greenwood.

PEARSON HURLS NO-HITTER AGAINST INDIANS

MONTE FEATURES YANKEES' DOUBLE WIN OVER TRIBE

Curve-Baller Wins 13 To 0 Victory; Yorkers Also Win Opener, 8-7

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Monte Pearson, classy curve-baller of the New York Yankees, broke into baseball's hall of fame today with a no-hit no-run hurling performance against the Cleveland Indians.

The 25-year-old right-hander, from Fresno, Calif., walked just two men in achieving the classic. His mates backed him up with a 13-hit attack, including two homers apiece by Joe Gordon and Tommy Henrich, to win the ball game 13 to 0.

The win gave the Yanks a sweep of the double header. They won the opener 8-7.

Monte Pearson

Pearson retired the first nine men to face him, walked Lary and Bruce Campbell in order to open the fourth, and then completed his no-hitter by getting the next 18 batters in a row.

It was Pearson's tenth victory in a row this season, and his 13th of the year against five defeats. The no-hitter was accomplished against his old mates, for he broke into the big leagues with Cleveland back in 1932 after seasoning at Oakland, Calif., in the Pacific Coast league, and Phoenix in the Arizona league.

The Indians sent him to Toledo for part of '32 and '33, then recalled him, and finally traded him to the Yanks in 1935 for Johnny Allen.

His is the first no-hitter in the major leagues since Johnny Vander Meer's two in a row for Cincinnati on June 11 and June 15 this year, and the first in the American league since Bill Dietrich turned the trick for the White Sox in June, 1937.

BROWNS TAKE PAIR

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Four home runs today moved the St. Louis Browns out of the American league cellar by giving them a double victory over the Athletics, 8 to 3 and 5 to 5.

Harold Clift and George McQuinn drove in five of the eight runs off Nelson Potter in the first game, Clift twice hitting for the circuit. Mel Almada blasted one of George's mates' pitches over the right field fence with one on in the ninth inning to win the second game after the A's had taken a 4-0 lead.

WAREHOUSES IN GENERAL TIE-UP

153 Plants Shut Down By Labor Trouble In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A warehouse tie-up here, compared by an employers' spokesman to a forest fire, today embraced 153 plants, involving five of six branches of the industry.

Start of a general shutdown Monday of the unaffected dry goods warehouses was considered likely.

A request by the Retail Department Store Employees' union, A. F. L., for strike sanction against 27 major department stores further complicated the labor situation. This union, representing 1,000 members, voted a strike after September 1, if deemed necessary, when employers refused to accept three major demands.

The number of closed warehouses increased when the wholesale liquor distributors association here announced 102 dealers had suspended because they were unable to make further deliveries to retail dealers.

An association spokesman said the closing of the dealers, importers, rectifiers and offices of representatives of eastern distillers involved about 75 warehouses.

Other warehouses closed included 38 grocery, 25 public warehouses, 10 drug, four hardware and the Woolworth warehouse from which the tie-up spread.

A picketed freight car, one of the principal issues in the dispute between employers and C. I. O. warehousemen, was on a siding today.

This car, shunted from plant to plant in the earlier stages of the three-week-old tie-up, is loaded with school supplies. Warehousemen contend the car was loaded by "strike-breakers." When warehousemen refused to pass the picket line and unload the car they were discharged and the plants closed.

Dancing Parties Popular

Delta Sigma Affair Is One Of Outstanding Events

The annual summer dances of Monroe's fraternities are claiming the attention of the younger set this month, who have been involved in a continuous round of gaiety during the waning days of vacation.

Outstanding among fraternity affairs last week was the Delta Sigma dance which was given at the Frances hotel, Cherokee terrace.

Miss Eunice Haynes, fraternity mother, was introduced and the two lovely sponsors, Miss Ellen Hale and Miss Martha Wilton McHenry, were presented with bouquets of white asters.

Several prominent out-of-town Delta were present including John M. Grace III of Hot Springs, who is the national president of the organization. John Harsh, Jr. of El Dorado, commissioner of district 1, and Ratford Williams of Baton Rouge, deputy commissioner, were also present. Other visiting Delta were Charles Griffin, Charles Nolan, Bill Lake, S. Hammonds, Sonny Mason of El Dorado; W. A. Moore, Owens Sailer of Fordyce, Ark.; George Sparlock, Bruce Dorster, Rocco White, Bill Greer of Shreveport; Jimmie Ahyden, Fort Worth; Ed Young, John Miller, Carl Leche, Baton Rouge.

Delta and their dates who were present were Francis McCaleb, Polly Anna Kennedy, Allan Meredith, Nancy Songina, George LeBlanc, Veronice Wilds, James Brothers, Jean Tavis, Harry Underwood, Betty Lou Seamon, George Patterson, Mac Fay Hammonds, F. A. Pong, "Snookie" McHenry, Clyde Paine, Martha Jane Hill, Byron Griggs, Lodi Cann, John Terrell, Doris Reid, Jimmie Hayden, Mary Ann Wilds, Roy Colter, Martha Wilton McHenry, Ben Meredith, Betty Flo Petty, Charles Regan, Ellen Hale, Billy Regan, Robertine Rhymes, Raymond West, Virginia Earle Kerah, Aubrey Young, Adelaide Parker, Tommy Wyatt, Doll Hudson, William Bowles, Mollie Gayle, Richard Davis, Mackie Welch.

Stags were Louis Milner, Durwood Carr, Frank Burgine, Dick Pritchard, Bill Shotwell, Jerrell Crow, William Henry Worsham, Potts Broad and Reneau Broad.

In today's pictures we have Mrs. Henry Mayo (lower left) sketching in the garden of her home on Hudson lane.

Reading from top to bottom—Miss Mary Ann Wilds and guests, Miss Danie Convy of Mobile, Ala., and Miss Sue Jayne Malaison of New Orleans; Mrs. Jack Boyer, who was, before her recent marriage, Miss Veron Posey of El Dorado; Miss Sadye Lou Peters enjoying her favorite sport, badminton; Miss Martha Wilton McHenry and Miss Ellen Hale, Delta sponsors, discussing the Delta Sigma dance last week; Mrs. Mike Tarver, formerly Miss Bernadine Kilcrease.

Impressive Ceremony Characterizes Marriage Of Miss Mildred Johnson

Nuptials Solemnized At Methodist Church

Bride's Aunt Serves As Her Only Attendant; Couple Will Live In Kilgore After September

Interest was centered last week in the wedding of Miss Mildred Johnson, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Johnson, and Mr. Arbra Johnson of Kilgore, Tex., son of Mrs. Mary Johnson of Athens, Tex.

The ceremony was solemnized at the First Methodist church, with Rev. H. L. Johns, presiding elder, officiating.

White clematis, intertwined with pink rose buds, banked the chancel rail and tall white wicker baskets filled with pink roses and gladioli, created an effective setting for the bridal party.

A pre-nuptial concert was rendered by Miss Eloise Temple, who sang "At Dawning" and "Requiem," accompanied by Mrs. Jack Zachary of Kilgore, followed by the wedding march, played by Mrs. Zachary. Mrs. Zachary also played softly during the ceremony.

Miss Temple wore a black crepe fall model with white accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Zachary was dressed in a frock of printed crepe.

The bride, a beautiful girl, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an advanced fall model of navy crepe, fashioned with a bolero jacket. She wore a pink blouse and pink gloves.

Her hat was an off-the-face model of navy velvet.

She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride's only attendant was her aunt, Mrs. Ruth McNamee of Albuquerque, N. M., who wore a navy tulle model dotted with white. The frock was made with full pleated skirt and bolero jacket. She carried an arm bouquet of pink radiance roses.

The groom was attended by his brother-in-law, Mr. Jack Zachary. Ushers were Mr. Clifford Johnson, brother of the bride and Mr. Truman Staples.

The couple left immediately after the ceremony for Houston and Galveston, Tex., where they will spend their honeymoon. They will be at home after September 1 in Kilgore.

The bride is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school, where she was president of her graduating class. She was also president of the freshman class of Northeast Center, L. S. U. She was exceedingly popular among her classmates and was elected official cheer leader. She was a member of the Purple Jackets and was active in all other school activities.

Mr. Johnson attended both Louisiana State university and Texas university, where he was a member of the football team. He is at present employed by one of the major oil companies in east Texas.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Mrs. Marian Harris, Baton Rouge; Mrs. Roll and Miss Evelyn Roll, St. Louis; Miss Elizabeth Davis, Mrs. Martha Ann Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Alf Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Davis, Mrs. Ruth McNamee, Albuquerque, N. M.; Mrs. Mary Johnson, Mrs. J. J. Bradshaw, Athens, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Zachary, Kilgore.

Miss Cole Weds Samuel Labouisse

The following account of Miss Mildred Cole's wedding, from the New York Times, will be of interest to friends in Monroe:

"Miss Mildred S. Childress Cole, daughter of Mrs. Herbert Childress Cole of New York and the late Dr. Cole, was married yesterday afternoon in the chapel of St. Bartholomew's church to Samuel Labouisse, son of Mrs. Samuel Labouisse of New Orleans and the late Mr. Labouisse. The Rev. Francis Craighead performed the ceremony.

"The bride was escorted by her uncle, George Hynson, of New Orleans, and was given away by her mother. She wore a gown of white net, made with a full skirt, V neckline and short, puffed sleeves and a veil of tulle fastened to a cap of rose point and duchess lace. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

"The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Philip Francis Lee, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., as matron of honor, and by the latter's daughter, Helen F. Cole Lee, as flower girl.

Miss Cole Weds Samuel Labouisse

The following account of Miss Mildred Cole's wedding, from the New York Times, will be of interest to friends in Monroe:

"Miss Mildred S. Childress Cole, daughter of Mrs. Herbert Childress Cole of New York and the late Dr. Cole, was married yesterday afternoon in the chapel of St. Bartholomew's church to Samuel Labouisse, son of Mrs. Samuel Labouisse of New Orleans and the late Mr. Labouisse. The Rev. Francis Craighead performed the ceremony.

"The bride was escorted by her uncle, George Hynson, of New Orleans, and was given away by her mother. She wore a gown of white net, made with a full skirt, V neckline and short, puffed sleeves and a veil of tulle fastened to a cap of rose point and duchess lace. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

The Sundial

Don't thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of.—Benj. Franklin.

By Neil Grigby

A CONTINUOUS round of parties, dances, barbecues, luncheons and coffee hours has monopolized the time of the members of the college set during the past week. And every member is drinking deep of this last hectic round of pleasure before departure for colleges and universities, where they will settle down to a year of serious study. (We hope.)

Girls are returning from summer camps daily. Gay Noe returned Friday from Camp Waldemar, and will make the acquaintance for the first time of her little sister, Linda McKee.

Mary Lavina Inabnet returned Wednesday from Camp Sequoyas, Bristol, Va., where she recently won a blue ribbon at the horse show in a horse jumping contest. Mary Lavina, who is a junior counselor at Camp Sequoyas, is a skillful rider and has frequently won acclaim at camp for her prowess as a horse-woman.

Mary Frances Parnell of Dermott, Ark., is a charming young visitor this week in the Rhymes plantation home at Rhymesville. Mary Frances is the daughter of former Governor Parnell of Arkansas, and is being feted with a round of parties during her visit.

Friends and relatives in Monroe have been enjoying a visit by Lieutenant Edwin Lee Clarke, who was graduated in June from West Point. He has been the guest of Mrs. Sam Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Austin Miller. It is particularly interesting to note that he entered West Point exactly 100 years after his great-grandfather, the late Isaiah Garrett, was graduated from the military academy. Mr. Garrett was an outstanding attorney in Louisiana in ante-bellum days. Several members of the Garrett family have made enviable records as officers in America's military forces. Lieutenant Clarke, who was appointed to West Point by Senator John H. Overton, left Monroe Friday.

Friends have been welcoming Mrs. Sam Fowles, who with her little daughter, Maryem, is a guest in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Colbert. Mrs. Fowles is the former Maryem Colbert.

Enthusiastic members of the Delta Beta Sigmas have told us very confidently that their dance next Friday night is to be quite, quite ritzy.

The J. T. Congers are moving to their lovely new home on College avenue, out near Northeast Center.

The Nelson Abells are having their home on South Grand street renovated and are getting the biggest kind of a thrill out of it.

Another visitor who is being greeted with the most cordial kind of southern hospitality is Mrs. Viola Perkins, who is the guest of Mrs. J. N. Knowles during her short visit in Monroe. Viola hasn't been to Monroe for several years and a round of parties is her inevitable fate while she is here. We all remember what a bundle of energy Viola was in the old days when we used to have Pan-Hellenic paper day. Viola could guide the destiny of the baby page, manage the advertising section, and look after several committees without even batting an eye.

Mrs. Henry Mayo introduced Mrs. Merrill Williams at a tea given at her home on Hudson lane Friday afternoon when several hundred guests called. Mrs. Mayo has spent her leisure hours this summer with her oils, sketching and painting landscapes, and also doing work in pastels.

The Garden club is planning to have Harry L. Daunoy, who is really an authority on gardens, speak here in October, when he will talk on the culture of roses, according to Mrs. Fred Fudickar, president of the club. He will no doubt give some advice on the care and culture of Polyanthas.

Laura Grace Kendall is off for St. Louis tonight to be a bridesmaid in the wedding of a childhood friend, Josephine Stuckey. The wedding will be a fashionable event in St. Louis, and Laura Grace has been up to her ears for the past few days making preparations for the event.

Miss Morris And Herman Kahn Wed

Of much interest in both north and south Louisiana was the wedding of Miss Estelle Morris and Herman Kahn of Clayton, La., which was quietly celebrated at the Episcopal parish house, Baton Rouge, at 4 o'clock last Sunday afternoon with Rev. W. E. Vann officiating.

Mrs. Kahn was smartly gowned in navy blue when she was making her way down the aisle, wearing a train of lace and a crown of flowers. Her coronation was of Ruban lilies.

Guests attending the ceremony were the bride's sister, Mrs. Walton Richard Patrick, and Dr. Patrick of Baton Rouge, Mr. and Mrs. I. Morris of Waterford, Mr. and Mrs. Constance Tillman, son from Natchez, and Mrs. Sam Landry from Baton Rouge.

Mrs. Kahn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green Morris of Dunbarton plantation in Concordia parish. She attended Southwestern Louisiana institute, where she was a member of Delta Epsilon Delta society and the Woman's Panhellenic honor society, an honorary organization for women at Southwestern.

After the ceremony the couple was honored with a reception at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Patrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Kahn left for an extended trip along the coast including Biloxi, Mobile and Key West, after which they will be at home at Clayton.

Miss Fannette Jackson of Boston, Mass., has just completed a visit of several weeks with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Delmas A. Jackson, and Mrs. W. E. Jackson of this city. She also visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jackson, of Gilbert.

Miss Jackson, who is making a coast boat tour, visited in New York City and Indianapolis, Ind., before coming to Monroe, and will spend the next few months in Los Angeles before returning to Boston.

Delmas Jackson, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmas A. Jackson, is at home at 1111 North Sixth street recuperating from a recent appendectomy.

Among the delightful affairs given during the past week for Miss Sara Florence Coon, lovely bride-elect, was the bridge party Wednesday evening, when Miss Beverly Russell and Miss Frances Browning entertained at Miss Russell's home on North Third street.

Orchid dahlias, pink radiance roses and white lilies used in effective arrangement throughout the living room, reflected the rainbow color scheme, which was observed in every detail of the affair.

Greeting the guests were Miss Coon, who wore a floor length model of black net with trimming of silver; Miss Russell, who wore a white mousseline de soie, and Miss Browning, who was lovely in a frock of green organza. Miss Coon was presented with a corsage of white gardenias by her hostesses.

After an evening of bridge, Miss Sara Florence Coon was presented with a pair of shoes for high score and Miss Lucille Smith received a double deck of playing cards for low score. Miss Jerry Williams, guest of Miss Dawson, was the recipient of a perfume bottle.

Miss Coon's gift was a beautiful service plate in the pattern she has selected for her china.

Ice and individual cakes, embossed with wedding bells, were served to the guests at the tables which were covered with linens in rainbow hues.

Misses Mitchell And Dred Feted

Miss Hazel Mitchell and Miss Winnie Graham Broad were compelled to wait until Wednesday morning when Miss Hazel Mitchell and Miss Broad were entertained at her home on Bark avenue.

The luncheon was one of a long series of farewell parties being given for Miss Mitchell and Miss Broad before their departure for Europe where they will spend the winter in school.

A patriotic motif was employed in every detail of this beautifully appointed affair, with an American flag, fashioned of flowers centering the luncheon table. Red and white carnations were used in the stripes of the flag, with white feverfew for the stars with a background of blue feverfew. Silver salt bowls were placed at the ends of the table and place cards, in which the red, white and blue motif were accentuated, marked the places of the guests. Individual packets of both salts were used for favors.

After a morning of bridge, a four course luncheon was served the guests, with a dessert of brick ice cream adorned with miniature flags and individual cakes, iced in white and embossed with blue stars.

Miss Mitchell and Miss Broad were presented with lovely compacts, for going away gifts, by Miss Walsworth. Miss Ella Rose Crawford was awarded a beautiful linen dance handkerchief for high score and Miss Clara Virginia Tarisa received a similar gift for second highest score.

Miss Eleanor Hodge Becomes Bride Of Frank Wright Grigsby At Rayville

Episcopal Church Scene Of Ceremony

Impressive Nuptial Concert Given; Couple To Live At Winnfield After Honeymoon In Ozarks

At a beautifully impressive ceremony at St. David's Episcopal church in Rayville August 19, Miss Eleanor Pollard Hodge, daughter of Mrs. Tobin R. Hodge and the late Mr. Tobin R. Hodge, became the bride of Mr. Frank Wright Grigsby, son of Mrs. Frank Grigsby and the late Mr. Frank Grigsby of Winnfield.

Rev. Edward Farren Hayward, rector of Grace church, in Monroe, performed the ceremony. The church was decorated with southern amaranth, white clematis and pink ranunculus from the gardens of Mrs. C. W. Earle at Clear Lake.

As the guests assembled, the candles on the altar were lighted by Theodore McCoy, and an inspiring pre-nuptial concert was rendered by Mrs. J. W. Summerlin of Rayville with Mrs. Sam C. Guees of Vicksburg giving the vocal numbers. "Prelude" by Rossini, "Prelude in A" by Chopin, and "To a Wild Rose" by McDowell were first played by Mrs. Summerlin. Then Mrs. Guees sang three beautiful sacred selections: "Come to Me," "Beethoven," "Ave Maria," "Gottschalk," and "The Lord's Prayer," set to music by Malotte. "Liebestraum" was softly played during the ceremony. "Marches des Fiancés" by Wagner was the processional and Mendelssohn's Wedding March was used as the recessional.

The bridesmaids were Miss Gloria Hodge, young sister of the bride, Miss Margaret Grigsby, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Lesley Richardson. They wore blue-bonnet blue taffeta gowns with bouffant skirts and doll hats of white-colored flowers and plumes, and carried old-fashioned compact bouquets of blue and lavender asters and tube roses.

The bride was attended by her mother of honor, Mrs. Sam C. Guees, who also wore blue-bonnet blue taffeta, accented by wide bands of dusty rose in the same material. She wore a doll hat and carried an old-fashioned bouquet.

The bride was gowned in white taffeta combined with starched lace made in the same bouffant style of the attendants. She wore a finger tip veil of bridal illusion held in place with blue forget-me-nots. She carried a white prayer book with one white gardenia and a shower of tiny sweet heart roses. For something old and something borrowed she carried a point lace handkerchief that has been in the family of Mrs. Frank Brown of Monroe for many years, and has been carried by a number of other brides in years gone by. She was given in marriage by Dr. Charles Hodge Moseley of Monroe.

The ushers were Mr. Albert Smith, Jr., Mr. Poinsett Johnson, and Mr. James Russell, all of Winnfield and life-long friends of the groom. The groom was attended by his best man, Mr. Robert Heard of Winnfield.

The bride is a talented musician and a member of the faculty of the Winnfield high school. She was graduated from Louisiana State university and is a member of Chi Omega sorority.

The groom is also a graduate of Louisiana State university and a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is connected with the maintenance department of the Louisiana highway commission.

After the ceremony, the couple left by motor for a honeymoon in the Ozark mountains. They will reside in Winnfield.

There were many relatives and friends from out-of-town present at the wedding.

Mrs. E. C. Gibson, district secretary of the Monroe district of the Methodist Women's Missionary society announces the date of the study leaders' day for September 2 at 9:30 a.m. at the First Methodist church of West Monroe.

Adding to the day's inspiration will be the presence of Mrs. G. W. Dameron, state superintendent of Bible and mission study. Mrs. Dameron has just completed a six weeks' training course at Scarritt college, Nashville, Tenn. Other state officers attending this meeting will be Mrs. George Sexton, Jr., and Mrs. W. M. Ledbetter, conference corresponding secretary, of Shreveport. The presidents and study leaders from the entire Monroe district are expected to attend.

Mrs. Joe Cannell entertained with a bingo party for Mrs. Caldwell and Mrs. Trucks Tuesday afternoon. Present on this occasion were Mrs. Harry Stein, Mrs. W. O. Cornett, Miss Annie McElroy, Miss Josephine Cannell, Miss Gladys Cornett and the honor guests. On Wednesday evening, Mrs. Harry Stein entertained the same group at her home on Gordon avenue.

Miss Sue Johnson left Friday morning for Denver, Colo., where she will enjoy a two weeks' vacation.

VARIETY OF MODELS MEETS EVERY TASTE

For gala occasions, cocktail parties and "don't dress" dinners, these two new frocks are ideal. The black silk crepe afternoon model, left, has a box pleated skirt and a sweater top smocked in inch-wide bands that are outlined with velvet. Notice the square shoulder line. At right, is a black silk crepe creation with wide gold Bayadere pattern. These shoulders, too, are square, and the neckline is softly draped.

JOSEPH MICKEL BUILDS BIG FIRM

Came To Louisiana 38 Years
Ago With Two Dollars
As Capital

Thirty-eight years ago Joseph Mickel, now owner of one of the most successful wholesale dry goods houses in the state, arrived in Louisiana with two dollars in his pocket. An 18-year-old Syrian boy who had come to the United States because he "wanted to see the world," he was penniless in a strange country. A college graduate today would probably starve under such conditions. Not so Joseph Mickel. In three years he was starting his own business on a slender capital, a store which he has built into a large and successful enterprise.

Back in Syria Joseph had heard of this country from American tourists in his father's house. He liked what he heard, and in 1901 he arrived in Pennsylvania. The only person he knew in the United States lived at Franklin, La., so he spent his last $35 for a ticket to Franklin.

When Joseph Mickel got to Louisiana he had two dollars and no prospects. His friend could not help him. So the 18-year-old boy got a job in a sugar refinery, where he worked 18 hours a day during the season. The pay was not large, but out of it, in three years, he managed to save $800. The young man did not like Franklin, so he came to Monroe to start his own business. By this time he had friends, and these friends lent him $100. With this, and his own $800, he set himself up in business in a small store on Layton avenue.

The Layton avenue store was a one-man enterprise, and Mickel worked by himself from the time he opened the store, at 7 in the morning, to the time he closed it at night.

After he had had the store a year Joseph Mickel sent for his brother Herman in Syria. From that time on he had a partner in the business.

In 1905 he moved the store to a building on Grand street. It was still a small store, but Monroe was still a very small town. The population was only about 6,000. The street in front of the store, the main street in those days, was paved with cobblestones.

The course of business was interrupted to some extent that year by the yellow fever epidemic. A guard was placed around Monroe so that no one could enter or leave the town. At times Mickel was on duty with this guard for 24 hours a day.

After this the store grew steadily with the town. In 1911 Mr. Mickel

MEN'S CLOTHES FULLY STOCKED

Jos. Mickel and Brother Co.
Has Extensive Men's and Boy's Department

A complete stock of men's clothes, ranging from the strongest overalls to the newest style dress shirts, makes the men's and boys' department at the Joseph Mickel and Brother company a convenience to retailers in this area. Working clothes such as men's and boys' overalls, khaki coats and pants and denim are shown in popular priced numbers. In the line of work shirts there are chambrays, coveralls and khakis.

Men's dress shirts play a large part in styles in the men's line. Moderately priced styles in prints and woven numbers in the newest stripes, checks, dots, whites and solids are featured. All dress shirts have Trubenzon collars.

As in the past, men's and boys' sweaters, jackets and leather coats will be available. Sweaters in half-zippers, pullovers and coat styles are expected to be popular. Leatherette and leather jackets in brown and black, some in blanket-lined numbers, some in silk-lined models, are featured.

The newest styles and patterns are shown in men's and boys' underwear. Many sorts of nationally advertised brands are available in two-piece numbers as well as in union suits. New models in boys' shirts and shorts are featured.

A carried line of caps in khaki, stripes, shop caps, chauffeur caps, dress and hunting caps, as well as new dress hats, complete the men's and boys' department.

MICKEL CO. HAS FINE NEW HOME

Spacious Three-Story Building Purchased By Wholesale Firm

Expansion of the Monroe trade area has resulted in the expansion of the Joseph Mickel and Brother company wholesale dry-goods house, which has recently moved to a large three-story building on the corner of Harrison and Hall streets. For months this firm has been building and enlarging in order to keep abreast of this trade growth.

As the trade area around Monroe grows the merchants also grow. As expansion continues these merchants expect and are entitled to more complete service from their local wholesaler. For this reason Joseph Mickel and Brother has spared no effort in building for the present and future of their customers and friends, the merchants in their area.

Mr. Joseph Mickel's comments on the recent improvements explain this expansion policy:

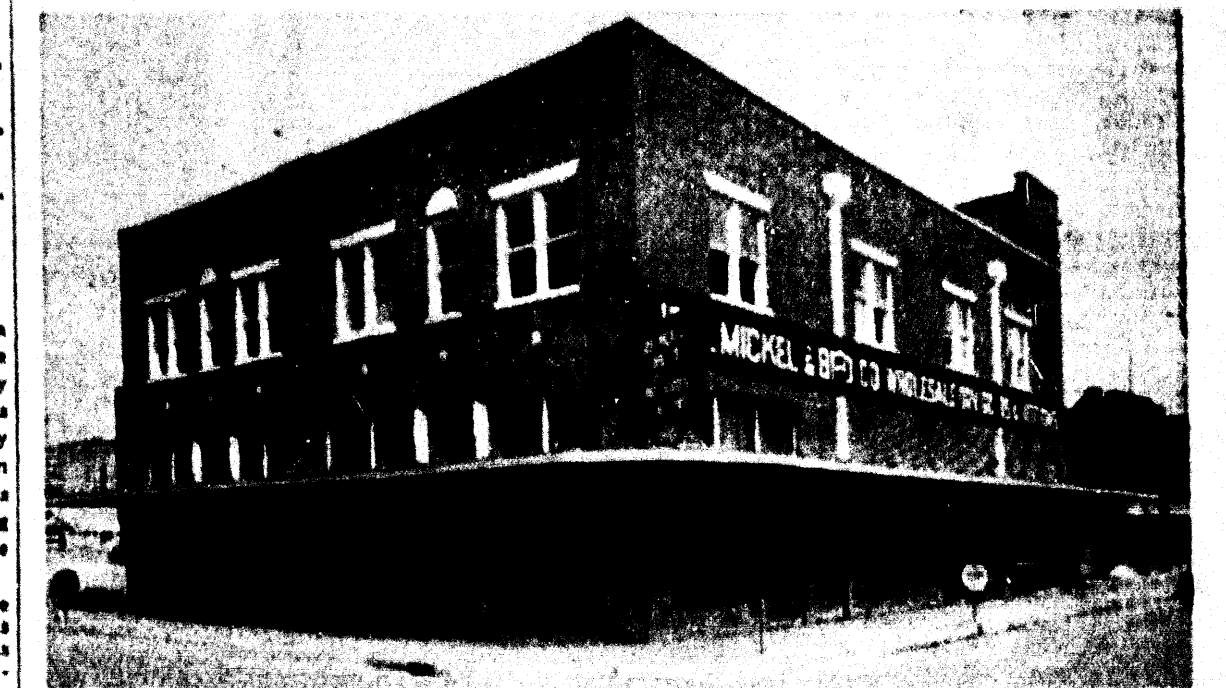

"We want every merchant in our trade area to know that we are keenly conscious of the fact that our expansion has been made possible only by the loyal patronage that you have accorded us since our inception. We could not have achieved such growth without your cooperation, and we pledge ourselves anew to spare no effort in rendering the type of service that you are justly entitled to and rightly expect from us. We have implicit confidence in the future developments of this great trade area, and unbounded faith in you as retailers, and we dedicate our business to better merchandising methods and to distributing the very best values obtainable."

A truly cooperative merchandising service is the aim of this wholesale house. They plan to develop such a service by three practices: cooperative service, cooperative pricing, and cooperative financing.

Cooperative service embraces a number of factors, including convenience of location, speed of delivery, and warehouse facilities of which the merchants can easily take advantage.

Merchandise will be transported at reduced expense, giving the merchant a lower net price. In many instances it will be possible for merchants to pick up their orders at the Mickel building, thereby affecting a still further saving in prices. This will mean a better competitive situation for the retailer.

By their cooperative price plan Mickel's works out the whole price question to the mutual benefit of retailer and wholesaler. The direct mill price, which is given when goods ordered through Mickel's are sent directly from the manufacturer's plant to the retailer, is one method of insuring better prices. For quantity purchases this method will prove highly economical and satisfactory. The regular price of merchandise handled in the regular course of efficient business will also be very reasonable; the resources and prices of the Jos. Mickel & Bro. Co. firm enables merchants to buy goods at figures that will put them in the forefront of competitive markets in their various towns.

Increased volume means cheaper prices. Mickel's believes that rapid turnover is the key to success in any business. This does not mean simply turnover in stock alone, but turnover in entire working capital. Only on this basis can operation economy be intensified and overhead costs be lowered to the point where a profit will be larger in total amount even if smaller in percentage.

Today merchants strive for quick selling, prompt payment, and complete turnover. Only thus does competition prove fruitful. Mickel's wholesale house does the same thing on a larger scale, and the process results in better business for retailer and wholesaler.

With these three objectives before

MICKEL STOCKS STAPLE GOODS

Many Types Of Cloth Are Available At This Wholesale Store

Huge supplies and a great variety of staple piece goods are to be found at the Joseph Mickel and Brother company.

This department is stressing values and quality. With few exceptions, there is little in staple piece goods that style can or does change in such lines as prints, ginghams, cretonnes, marquisettes and the like, where there are such style trends, the newest and the best is shown at Mickel's first. But behind them all are the staple lines which year in and year out, season after season, have been, with slight variations, consistent sellers.

An example is ginghams. The newest plaid ginghams in a variety of colors and patterns that would thrill the most discriminating buyer are stocked in the department. With them are stocked the standard stripes and checks and the solid colors. Some of these designs are new, but others have been standard for years. So it is with other lines. The newest innovations and the best of the standard types are available to supply the wants and needs of the merchants.

The piece goods department is one of the most interesting in the building. There they sell the heavier cotton goods, the tickings, the ducks, canvases, the chevrons, 36-inch sheetings, domestics, ginghams, denims, khaki cloth, outing flannels, cotton flannels, madras, cotton plaids, cretonnes, drapery cloth, marquisettes, romper cloth, chambrays and other lines. Stocks are complete and the visiting merchant is able to find the goods to fill his requirements with a minimum of effort.

Values in staple cotton goods were never better in the report from this department. Merchants are offered the opportunity of getting more of the best for their money than in years. Adequate stocks will be available.

The spacious ground floor of the new building has provided room for several new departments. This jobbing house has been in business in Monroe for 35 years.

Many Firms Congratulate Jos. Mickel And Bro. Co.

The companies which have extended congratulations to Mickel and Brother company on these pages have had a great deal to do with the success of this wholesale house. Many of them have for a number of years supplied Mickel's with outstanding dry good lines.

Martin Heimann, mill agents for ladies' lingerie, supplies Mickel and Brother company with ladies' slips, step-ins and gowns. May Hosiery Mills manufactures many of the sheer stockings which are in Mickel's stock. Ladies' belts, patent ties, and kids are made by the Smart Set Manufacturing company, while belts for men and boys are supplied by the Well-Made Leather Goods company.

E-Z Mills, Inc., furnishes the wholesale house with underwear for children of any age. Various types of underwear are made by the Riverside Underwear corporation. Shreve and Adams, Inc., supplies many popular types of hosiery.

Ladies' dresses are furnished by Kaufman, First and Rosenkrantz, Inc., dealers in Swanky Maid frocks, and George Joachim, dealer in Uneda frocks.

The Blue Buckle Overall company supplies men's overalls. S. Liebovitz and Son, Inc., inventors of the trunionized collar, furnishes quality shirts. Men's pants and shirts are specialties of the Seminole Manufacturing company. Railroad caps, engineer caps, chauffeur caps, corduroy and shop caps are supplied by the Bell Cap company.

The Narrow Fabric company, manufacturers of Nufashond products, deals in rick-rack, bias tape, frilling, elastic and shoe laces. Max H. Keaster company are mill representatives for leather jackets and men's underwear. The Texas Harvest Hat company deals in various sorts of hats.

Local firms which have complimentary ads in these pages are Monroe Auto and Supply company, Slagle-Johnson Lumber company, Hotel Frances, C. R. Tidwell, 707 Tire Service, Central Savings Bank and Trust company, and H. R. Speed Insurance agency.

MICKEL CO. HOME FULLY MODERNIZED

A thorough renovation has been completed at the new home of Mickel and Brother company on the corner of Harrison and Hall streets. The spacious three-story building and basement has been completely modernized for the convenience of customers.

Installation of an electric freight and passenger elevator is rendering sales service even more prompt and convenient than before. Large fans on all floors cool the store despite August weather, while white walls with green trim give the building a neat and spacious appearance. Dry goods of various sorts, including bolts of bright fall prints, notions, school supplies, blankets, and sheets, are displayed on large tables on the ground floor. At the front of this floor the offices of the store are located. At the rear is the shipping department.

A wide staircase rises to the mezzanine floor, on which ladies' and children's dresses, sweaters, coats, and lingerie are displayed on racks and shelves.

Men's and boys' clothes occupy most of the third floor of the building. The roomy basement is used for storage purposes.

LOCAL FIRM SERVES EXTENSIVE TRADE AREA

The Joseph Mickel and Brother company, as the only wholesale dry goods house in Monroe, serves retailers in a large part of Louisiana and in parts of Mississippi and Arkansas. The trade area of the company includes north Louisiana, central Louisiana, the territory east of Monroe, the Mississippi delta and southeast Arkansas.

The polar regions compose the fifth largest land mass on the earth, with an area of 4,892,000 square miles.

MICKEL COMPANY ACCESSIBLE TO TRADE TERRITORY

The accessibility of the Mickel and Brother company wholesale dry goods house insures convenient buying and cheap transportation rates to merchants in this area who would otherwise have to order goods from distant cities.

Good roads and automobiles enable many retailers to drive from their stores to the Joseph Mickel and Brother company in a few minutes. These merchants can inspect the stock themselves and select just exactly what they want. A great many of the progressive merchants of today are doing that very thing. This personal selection by retailers who know their customers' needs so well insures perfect satisfaction in buying.

When merchants order from Mickel and Brother company they can afford to invest less capital than when they order from distant wholesale houses. At the Mickel and Brother company a large stock is easily available to retailers through prompt delivery. Frequent ordering from this local store involves even less expense than large orders from distant points because freight rates from Monroe to towns in this vicinity are naturally much cheaper than those from distant jobbing houses to towns near here.

PLENTY OF PARKING SPACE AT MICKEL'S

Parking troubles do not worry customers at the Joseph Mickel and Brother company's new building on the corner of Harrison and Hall streets. Patrons do not have to circle the block several times looking for a place to park, nor do they have to park several blocks down the street. Furthermore, there is no need for them to rush through the selection of goods in order to get back to their cars.

Parking areas have been opened near the store expressly for the convenience of the Joseph Mickel and Brother company's customers. There is no limit to the time of parking in these areas; customers may park in the morning and stay all day if they wish. Progressive and busy merchants appreciate this elimination of parking worries by the Joseph Mickel and Brother company.

Castor and Pollux, the stars known as "The Twins," are about 90,000,000,000 miles apart.

MICKEL COMPANY PRIDES SELF ON PROMPT SERVICE

Prompt service is the pride of the Joseph Mickel and Brother company shipping department. All orders are shipped on the same day that they are received at this wholesale house. Members of the shipping department realize that each merchant wants his merchandise as soon as he can possibly get it. With this in mind the clerks give all orders immediate attention, filling, packing and delivering the orders to the various freight lines serving this area within a few hours of their receipt.

No time is wasted in filling orders, as the company's merchandise is well sorted and arranged so that the stock clerks can assemble it quickly and easily.

When the method of shipping an order is not specifically designated by the customer merchandise is sent by the quickest and cheapest route, as the shipping department maintains an up-to-the-minute schedule of rates and time-tables of all out-going freight cars. Often merchants receive their goods the same day they mail their orders.

When a merchant comes to the store and purchases merchandise to take with him the shipping department has his merchandise packed in his car within a few minutes after buying is completed. This quick service policy enables merchants to save many valuable hours of time in the purchase of goods.

GROUP THEATER SUCCESS VARIED

Build Long Most Outstanding
Of Combination
Ideas

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The cooperative or group idea in theatrical productions continues to bounce into both snafus and triumphs as Broadway's several show shop units prepared today to begin next week their most ambitious season.

The Theater guild has long been the most successful of the group ideas, but despite their successes they have failed to hold together a continuous non-changing acting company. Even their actress-director, Helen Westley, now spends most of her time appearing in Hollywood movies, while Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, their most brilliant stars, alternate between appearing for the guild and under their own management.

Two other stars of their permanent group, Dudley Digges and Henry Travers, have gone to other managements. And more, in recent seasons, the guild has been forced to go to Hollywood and recruit movie stars to head its productions.

The group theater was first formed by a board of youngsters who graduated from the guild ranks, and although they have been eminently successful, they, too, have found it difficult to hold their ranks closed when individuals make outstanding hits and are lured away by more tempting offers.

Franchot Tone left the group to go to Hollywood, but he is returning in January to play the lead in the group's production of "Gentle People," a comedy about Coney Island by Irwin Shaw, author of "Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee."

The group's first effort of the new season, however, will be a revival of their hit, "Golden Boy," with Frances Farmer returning to her original role. This will open in Chicago on September 12 and play east while the troupe rehearses its new plays for Broadway opening, which include both "Gentle People" and "Rocket to the Moon," a love story by Clifford Odets. Morris Carnovsky will play the lead in this latter, and there is a possibility that Sylvia Sydney may play the feminine lead. Miss Sydney recently having merged with the group by marrying one of its stars, Luther Adler. But the group has lost one of its stars, Jules (now "John") Garfield to the movies, where he is fast winning gold and fame.

The Mercury players, who were most successful last season, plan to be just as active again this winter with Orson Welles and John Houseman directing. Their first productions will include William Gillette's farce, "Too Much Johnson," and the revolutionary "Danton's Death."

But, despite their success the Mercury players are having their troubles in holding some of their more able players. Max Gordon has signed several of them to appear in his new musical show, "Sing Out the News," and other managers are dangling tempting contracts within the grasp of others.

The explanation seems to be that the one-for-all and all-for-one spirit of these groups flies out the window when the individuals begin to stand out as individuals and have personal fame and fortune offered them.

Some stars of the theater are avidly opposed to the group idea of acting. For instance there is Cornelia Otis Skinner, who is abandoning her solo performance this season to play the leads in several revivals.

"Actors are individuals," Miss Skinner says. "All this cooperative pooling of artistry, beyond a certain limit, is so much nonsense to me. I haven't the Moscow Art theater attitude about working for the good of the group."

McLean Heiress Determined She Won't Have Big Debut

By Beth Campbell
WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP)—For years society has waited for it—the coming out party of the girl who was born under the shadow of the Hope diamond.

Society writers have furnished a glittering buildup. It would be a $100,000 debut, they said. Flowing champagne. Gorgeous gowns. Half a dozen bands.

But the attractive young woman whose grandfather was Colorado's gold king doesn't want to bow to society. She doesn't want even a $10 debut party. She wants to be a designer.

Her grandmother McLean ran Washington society. Her mother, the unpredictable Evalyn Walsh McLean, started the nation with her $100,000 excursion into the Lindbergh baby hunt.

Now, Evalyn, nearly 17, springs a surprise of her own. And her mother thinks it's a wonderful idea.

"A big debut is like putting a girl on the auction block," scoffed the owner of the famous, ill-starred 44½-carat Hope diamond.

"It's as silly as being presented at court," Mrs. McLean said at Friendship, the one-time monastery which has seen many scintillating parties since its rambling acres became the McLean estate.

It was the incredible Evalyn Walsh McLean talking. She didn't have a debut either. She avoided being presented at court after her dress was ready by running off to Paris with her maid. Almost from the time her father, Tom Walsh, "struck it rich" in Colorado gold, she has made headlines.

She buys priceless jewels, pawns them when necessary and buys them back again. She visits morgues and jails at night unannounced. She ran in and out of the White House almost at will during the Harding and Coolidge days. At the moment she is collecting blown glass paperweights at $10 to $25 a crack, writing a newspaper column and befriending countless down and outers.

Now a younger Evalyn McLean is coming of age. Her friends are making their bows to society. Since she was so tiny she had to say "hello" from a chair, she has received with her colorful mother at mammoth New Year's eve, Thanksgiving and Easter festivities which annually draw the nation's famous folk.

She has been brought up simply, her mother said. Always a governess or companion has accompanied her everywhere. Riding in any car but her own was taboo. "You know how boys are when they get a couple of drinks," Mrs. McLean explained. With her family, the younger Evalyn has visited Newport, Palm Beach and other haunts of society.

This summer, Evalyn is away from home without her mother for the first time, visiting a brother in Colorado. She has become a tall, willowy blonde girl with a flair for simple and distinctive clothes. She dances beautifully and is at ease in any company. Everyone expected that her debut would be this winter, and predicted it would be the biggest, gayest party of several seasons. But—

"Evalyn doesn't want a debut," her mother said today. "She hates being called a glamour girl. She loves designing. She won't have a debut—ever. Unless she changes her mind. And I talked to her last night over long distance."

GRAVEYARD WORKING ATTENDED BY MANY

CLARKS, La., Aug. 21.—(Special)—More than 500 persons attended the annual all-day graveyard working at Old Bethel cemetery, one mile west of Clarks.

The Tuesday before the fourth Sunday in August has been commemorated by this church in this way for more than 35 years.

Old Bethel Baptist church is the second oldest Baptist church west of the Mississippi river, having been organized and the first church built 108 years ago on the site adjoining the Old Bethel cemetery which had already been established. Two slate grave markers in the cemetery show dates of 108 years ago.

The noon hour was featured by an old-fashioned basket dinner spread on a long table erected under the trees in the church yard. At this time guest speakers and visiting ministers addressed the gathering.

C. C. Sheppard of Clarks, president and general manager of the Louisiana Central Lumber company, was the principal speaker.

Anthony Thompson of Baton Rouge also made an address in the interest of a new church building.

FERRIDAY PROJECT GIVEN APPROVAL

FERRIDAY, La., Aug. 21.—(Special)—Mayor E. W. Vogt has been notified by J. Lester White, chairman of the Louisiana planning commission, of the approval by the Works Progress administration of Ferriday's application for 15,000 feet of concrete sidewalks. The work will cost approximately $14,000 and will be under the supervision of J. T. Phillips, area engineer of Alexandria.

According to the letter of approval, the project calls for concrete sidewalks which will be four inches thick and four feet wide and taking in 6,887 square yards with fine grading. There will be 400 cubic yards of earthwork and mixing and the placing of 470 cubic yards of concrete finishing with topping on same.

GRAND JURORS NAMED
JONESBORO, La., Aug. 21.—(Special)—A list of grand jurors for the September term of court has been drawn as follows: I. T. Anders, J. E. Cox, T. A. DeJean, Lewis Edmiston, D. B. Frantom, B. L. Fallin, Alton Fowler, E. H. Gentry, J. J. Garner, V. J. Hogan, D. S. Johnson, Charlie Larkin, Delmer Netherly, J. D. Puckett, W. L. Prince, D. H. Smelly, Floyd Stewart, Floyd Salesbury, Homer Watkins and W. R. Womble.

BUGS OF NATION ENJOY SUMMER

Pests Have Ranged Wide And Eaten Heartily During Warm Months

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The bugs of the country have had a good summer—they ranged wide and ate heartily.

The bureau of entomology, preparing new offensives in its fight against insects, listed 23 of them annoying man, beast and plant from Maine to California and from the Gulf to Canada, where Alberta wheat farmers are having their troubles with the stinkbug.

Sluggish states are afflicted with grasshoppers numerous enough to be a scourge—and grasshoppers don't sound like menacing when the bureau calls them, as it does, "Melanoplus mexicanus Sauss." or "Dioscorea Carolina L."

The Mormon cricket thrives in the wheat and range lands of 11 western states, and the army worm feeds on grain crops from Maine to Iowa and North Dakota.

Eight southeastern states are plagued with boll weevil and other cotton pests, and peach orchards along the eastern seaboard and as far inland as Michigan are hosts to the oriental fruit moth.

Apple orchards still shelter the codling moth from New York to Nevada, and the chinch bug, starting in Ohio's cornfields, moves west and south to wind up in Texas eating sorghum. His cousin, the hairy chinch bug, likes Connecticut lawns.

In addition to such familiar and widespread pests, the bureau finds buffalo treehoppers eating pears in Michigan and garden shrubs in Missouri the three-cornered alfalfa hopper feasting on Louisiana legumes; pistol casebearers on Pennsylvania apple trees, and the lime tree looper scorching lime trees to attack Michigan's pin cherries.

Strangely enough, the bureau reports, a long star tick was found on a man in southeastern New Jersey—the farthest north for this Gulf coast migrant.

U. S. STAKE BIG IN S. AMERICA

Heavy Investment Cause Of Cautious Steps Taken In Mexican Spat

By Edward E. Bonar

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A direct United States stake of more than $4,000,000,000 in Latin America is one cogent reason the state department is proceeding cautiously in its controversy with Mexico over the seizure of American property.

The security of these investments is involved in somewhat the same way as the fate of American oil properties is tied up with the current diplomatic exchanges over American farm lands seized by Mexico.

The precedents established in the dispute with Mexico, in the view of officials here, are bound to influence materially the future status of United States capital in the rest of Latin America.

This is one of a multitude of factors involved in the controversy. Others which weigh heavily with the administration include the "good neighbor" policy of sympathetic cooperation with the other 21 American republics, and the practical consideration that sales of American goods to them have been on the increase.

Such sales last year totaled $361,-

901,000. Most recent commerce department figures list the value of direct investments of United States citizens in Latin America at $2,847,000,000. Atop this is approximately $1,227,000,000 which American investors have loaned in Central and South America and the Caribbean.

The biggest individual stake—about $666,254,000 in direct investments—is in Cuba. Next is that in Chile, $483,736,000; and third the holdings in Mexico. The pre-expropriation estimate for that country was $479,465,000.

In other countries investments were thus estimated: Argentina, $348,260,000; Brazil, $194,345,000; Venezuela, $186,266,000; Colombia, $107,549,000. For Peru the figure was $96,052,000. In other countries the amount was substantially less.

The dispute with Mexico represents only one instance of the difficulties encountered by American capital abroad since the World war made this country a great credit exporting nation. In the Soviet Russian revolution, Germany's inflation upheaval, and elsewhere, billions have been lost.

While Mexico has been putting into effect a far-reaching socialization program, her neighbors have been impelled by the same tendency to nationalization of industry. The effect, to some degree, has been much the same on foreign investments.

An administration authority close to Latin American trends thus summarized developments of recent years, using restrictions on petroleum as an example in many instances:

Cuba—Numerous laws tightening local control of foreign-owned concerns, heavier taxes, temporary default on interest of foreign loans.

Chile—Laws declaring land on which oil is found would become government property. Government control of refineries since 1931. Laws governing distribution and prices, approved but not all applied.

Mexico—Expropriation of American oil properties and farms; indemnification still in dispute.

Argentina—Strengthening its control of foreign oil companies since 1933.

Brazil—Petroleum control law in effect since 1931.

Bolivia—Standard Oil holdings valued at $17,000,000 confiscated two years ago on grounds of fraud and failure to develop oil lands. Dispute now pending in courts.

Ecuador—Close control of foreign industries.

Uruguay—Government control of refineries.

Venezuela—Government wants further share in foreign profits.

Offsetting these developments is the observation of some American officials that the pace of nationalization has been slowing up. Many Latin countries have decided they still need foreign financial and technical assistance.

The United States is the best customer of 13 or 15 of these countries, and is the second best market for most of the others.

Dismissing Mexico's example, little Costa Rica, while authorizing expropriation of properties of the Electric Bond and Share company, promised compensation in advance, as directed by its constitution.

Warren Lee Pierson, president of the export-import bank of Washington, said on his departure this month on a South American trade tour that the returns on that agency's Latin American commitments had been satisfactory in the last year.

Excepting the Mexican seizures, which Secretary Hull termed "confiscation" rather than legal expropriation, many American officials are frankly tolerant of the efforts of various Latin American countries to control their own economy.

These trends are evidence of the awakening of a new national consciousness, of the "coming of age," so to speak, of the southern republics.

George Wythe, chief of the Latin American section of the commerce department, said recently:

"Undoubtedly they will continue to need and desire the collaboration of foreign capital and foreign management and technical aid, but on somewhat different terms than in the past. In order to keep the proper perspective, it may be appropriate to point out that the trend toward diffusion of manufacturing is a world-wide phenomenon and that the striking manufacturing progress in some of the major Latin American countries is perhaps no greater than has occurred in several of the British dominions and in India, and is, of course, not comparable to the spectacular industrialization of Japan."

LONG'S BIRTHDAY TO BE STATE HOLIDAY

The birthday of the late Senator Huey P. Long, August 20, will be observed as a legal holiday in Louisiana in accordance with a statute that was passed by the state legislature.

The mayor's office and other offices in the city hall will be closed all day Tuesday, as will banks, building and loan company offices and the motor vehicle bureau.

SCHOOL PROJECT GETS APPROVAL

FERRISDAY, La., Aug. 21.—(Special)—Principal Hugh A. Bateman of the Ferriday high school, and Parish Superintendent of Education J. S. Burris have been advised that an allotment for an auditorium-gymnasium at Ferriday has been given formal approval. The new building, on which work will begin in the near future, will cost approximately $18,125, according to present plans.

PRIVATE SHOWING OF FILM IS HELD

Guests At Screening Give Praise To 'Love Finds Andy Hardy'

"Love Finds Andy Hardy," fourth in a series of Judge Hardy family pictures, was shown late Friday night at the Paramount theater in a private screening, through courtesy of Ben Mitchell, manager of the theater, before an audience that was representative of groups and organizations of the city. All expressed delight at the picture which deals with a simple relation of domestic entanglements, tells of the young man of the family who not only braves his father's wrath by buying a second-hand car without permission, but also becomes entangled with three girls at the same time.

Lewis Stone again is the kindly, discerning judge, head of a typical family of five. This marks his third appearance in the role of Judge Hardy. Mickey Rooney is given the biggest role he has played so far in the series, providing the maelstrom around which the plot revolves. His rapidly increasing popularity makes him an ideal representative of the typical American boy.

Those who attended the screening were the following: Miss Mamie Campbell, Mrs. Gertrude Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keller, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Olan Black, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Kutz, Mr. and Mrs. John Gatto, Mr. and Mrs. Darden, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jobe and son, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Flournoy, Mrs. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Orchard, Louis Guerriero, Miss Betty Keller, Charles Titcher, Miss Eileen MacKinnon, Scherck Bogen, Miss Regina Scherck, Julius Cahn, Mrs. Elmer Richards, Mrs. W. M. Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Walling, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Thompson, R. D. Pace and 33 children from the Louisiana Baptist Children's home.

The picture will be shown at the Paramount theater, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 2-4.

of London had started on a trip around the world in 80 days.

Today's intrepid airmen are but his followers.

Mr. Fogg, methodical English clubman, had wagered 20,000 pounds he could do it. His venture was ridiculed, bets were laid against him, and thus was launched one of the most fascinating novels of the 19th century—"Around The World In 80 Days." Its author was Jules Verne.

To win his stupendous wager, Mr. Fogg had to catch every train, every steamer, on the dot. But those who bet against him did not count on his iron will. He encountered the most desperate adventures without batting an eye, including the rescue of a beautiful young woman who became his wife. He was harassed all the way by a detective who mistook him for a thief who had robbed the Bank of England a few days before Mr. Fogg left London.

Mr. Fogg made it—on the dot. He used every means of conveyance then known—steamers, railways, carriages, yachts, trading vessels that he hired or purchased, sledges—over America's plains—and an elephant.

"The novels of Jules Verne," writes an authority, "are dreams come true, dreams of submarines, airplanes, television; they look forward, not backward. Therefore, they are still the books of youth."

Don't Giggle Over Good Gugelhupf

By Mrs. Gayner Maddox
(NEA Service Staff Writer)
Gugelhupf cake has a humorous sound, a big-hearted shape and lots of flavor. Here is how to make it:
Gugelhupf Cake
(Serves 8)

Two and two-fifths cups flour, 11-2 tablespoons yeast, 1-2 cup butter, 3 egg yolks and 1 whole egg, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 cup mixed raisins, chopped citron and finely chopped almonds, pinch of salt and about 1 glass milk.
The yeast is dissolved in part of the lukewarm milk and mixed with half the flour and mixed into a dough. Cover and let stand in warm place for three hours to allow it to rise. The butter is creamed with the sugar and salt until it becomes foamy. Add the rest of the milk gradually, the eggs and the remaining flour to the butter mixture. Add the almonds, citron and raisins to the dough this has been set aside to rise, beat this well in a mixing bowl until bubbles form. Combine the mixture. Place in a crown form that has been well buttered and dusted with flour. Dot with almonds on the outside.

Allow to stand in warm spot until it has risen to within two inches of the top of the form. Place in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) to bake between 40 and 50 minutes. Test like any other cake.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Blackberries and cream, crisp bacon, pecan coffee cake, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Sliced hard cooked eggs, tomato and cucumber salad, herbal cream cheese balls, fruit cookies, tea, milk.
DINNER: Viennese calf's liver, parley potatoes, broiled tomatoes, mixed green salad, gugelhupf cake, coffee, milk.

cake with a straw or fork to make sure it is completely baked through. When it is finished remove from pan and dust lightly with powdered sugar. This cake when kept well covered remains fresh for several days.

Viennese Calf's Liver
(Serves 4)

One pound liver, 3 small onions, 1-2 teaspoon caraway seed, red paprika, water, 1 teaspoon flour, 2 tablespoons cream.

Cut liver in strips two inches long and one inch wide. Dip in flour and sear quickly in butter. Don't sear too long. Remove liver from pan and brown the sliced onions in same butter.

Add caraway seed, sprinkle with paprika, add water to cover, flour and cream. Add liver and cook gently for 10 or 15 minutes. Be careful not to overcook.

CHAIN LITTERS OF PIGS BEGUN

Agriculture Teacher Finds Way
To Get Boys To Raise
Pure-Bred Hogs

ALPHARETTA, Ga.—(AP)—Stocky, 35-year-old P. L. Elkins, teacher of vocational agriculture, worked six years trying to get the farm boys of this middle Georgia community to raise pure-bred hogs. He didn't get anywhere, he says, until he hit upon the endless pig chain idea, which works somewhat like the old chain letter plan.

The boys—and their dads, too—took to the idea. It has been going now since the first of the year. Elkins says that in four years there should be at least one blooded sow on practically every one of the 300 farms in the community.

The Milton High school chapter of Future Farmers of America operates the chain. The 83 boys and their teacher began it with four pedigreed sows and a boar.

"We'll stop when we serve our community," the vocational teacher explained, "but in 20 years, allowing 20 per cent loss for hogs that died or failed to breed, I figure the chain would distribute, without any initial cost to the recipients, 34,225,229 pure-bred female pigs—about four or five for every farm family in the United States."

That's some pig. It just goes to show what good breeders hogs are and what money-making possibilities they have with proper care.

As soon as the Alpharetta Future Farmers received their five registered sows, they built houses and fence pastures for them on the school's 30-acre grounds.

Soon there were 24 pigs, 16 of them females. The eight males were sold off to meet current expenses. When the females were eight weeks old, each of them went to a Future Farmer who, with his father, signed an agreement to take good care of it and return to the chain the best two females of his first litter.

The 32 gilts thus received will go to 32 other boys as will the female pigs of fall litters from the school herd and the almost endless additional pigs that will be coming in from the continued operation of the chain. Elkins calculates that after all of the farms of the community have been stocked up the boys will still have about 250 fine pigs.

"We ought to get about $1,000 clear from them after paying off all of our obligations," he says. "We can use the money to start a fund to help our boys through college. We have wanted that loan fund for a long time and now the pigs will give it to us."

The school herd nucleus of the chain serves as a "pig laboratory" in which the boys learn all about swine production, management and vaccination against cholera.

BOY SCOUTS WILL AID AT DEDICATION

A group of Boy Scouts will aid in the program which will take place at the dedication of the Morgan fountain on the campus of the Ouachita Parish Grammar school, September 12. They will see that the flag is raised on the flagpole at the conclusion of the exercises. During the presentation of the program the flag will have been at half-mast.

Boy Scouts who will participate are: David Martin, Alfred Martin, O. Dowdy, Gerold Burton, Ben Tarver, Bill Simmons, C. Taylor and Fred Stricklin, and their part will be to aid Jack Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Hayes, in the flag ceremony. The fountain will be decorated appropriately and there will be reserved seats for members of the family of Mrs. Morgan.

WOULD-BE THIEF TRIES TO STEAL MINISTER'S AUTO

Rev. C. Carlos Smith, pastor of the First Methodist church in West Monroe, is thanking a kindly Providence in that his stolen automobile—the one that he went 3,000 or 4,000 miles in more or less on that summer vacation trip, is again in his possession. But he did lose a Bible and a flashlight, neither of which has been returned.

In a burst of generosity, Rev. Smith Saturday offered to donate a Bible with the new owner's name in gold letters on the cover, if he will return the flashlight. No questions will be asked, he said.

Rev. Smith, who had seen no ball games all summer, suddenly decided it would be fine to see the White Sox in action, so to the game he motored. After the first game of a double-header, Friday night, he concluded he'd pull out and go home. But when he went to reclaim his parked car it was missing. A careful survey of all cars was made. After a few minutes of inspection, he discovered his automobile which had been taken by some unauthorized person. The would-be thief had endeavored to make a getaway but after proceeding a few yards he had suddenly encountered a ditch. The front wheels were hanging over the declivity and in this manner the car had been evidently suddenly abandoned. Rev. Smith called for some negroes and the car was lifted back on the highway and all was well again. But an inventory showed a Bible and a flashlight missing.

The reverend gentleman, assured that no lasting harm had been done, did not report the affair to the police. And now all he wants is a return of the flashlight, for which he will give a reward of a Bible with the owner's name in gold.

BIG TARANTULA FOUND IN BUNCH OF BANANAS HERE

J. L. Ragland, clerk in a downtown grocery, in waiting on a customer Saturday morning almost ran his hand onto a tarantula in a bunch of bananas. A quick motion averted the occurrence. Later the creature was captured and placed in a glass bottle where it is being exhibited.

The tarantula has 10 legs and was an unusually large specimen which is believed to have come from Central America in a consignment of fruit to New Orleans.

PASTOR RETURNS

Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Huntberry have returned from a month's vacation spent in Mexico and on the coast of the Gulf of Mexico. He will preach twice today in his pulpits, that of the First Baptist church of West Monroe. Big Event Takes Place In Life Of Schmalzfuss Family

Aged Couple, Affectionately Known As 'Papa' And 'Mama' Build New Home

A major event in the placid lives of "Papa" and "Mama" Schmalzfuss, 507 Ouachita avenue, has just transpired. Their two-story home, located for nearly 34 years at 505 Ouachita avenue, has just been torn down and in its place is being constructed the foundation for a modern, one-story frame dwelling.

Life has been tranquil and serene for Eduard and Emma Schmalzfuss, affectionately known as "Papa" and "Mama." Changes in their routine of living have been few since they came to Monroe shortly after their marriage at Gers, in their native Germany, 52 years ago. The last previous major event in their lives happened some years ago when Papa Schmalzfuss, along with others in the shifting sands of time, was severed from his job in a local railroad shop after working there 39 years. Now that a new residence is being built at the site of the old, and Papa and Mama Schmalzfuss are living in an adjacent residence which they own, the tranquility of their lives is broken by frequent inspection trips, under a blazing sun, of the progress of the new construction.

Papa Schmalzfuss admits that he putters about the construction of the new home for too long at one time, because the sun makes him a bit dizzy, and he has to retire to the shade to cool off. Mama Schmalzfuss makes her inspections with an umbrella overhead to ward off the blazing sun, but even so the heat is oppressive.

It had been nine years since the Morning World reporter visited Papa and Mama Schmalzfuss. Calling to visit them yesterday, he found them inspecting the foundation work of the new home and inquired as to how they had been getting along during the past nine years. Mama Schmalzfuss, who has a pronounced sense of humor, replied: "Oh, we've been fussing and fighting as usual!"

The depression, and the fact that Papa Schmalzfuss lost his job some years ago, did not seem to have appreciably affected the tranquility of the Schmalzfuss household. Owning the large, two-story house which has been razed, and owning a substantial adjacent residence which was their first home in Monroe, Papa and Mama Schmalzfuss have fared well enough and seem to show no signs of age in an accounting of the nine years.

Mama Schmalzfuss led the reporter from the site of the new house into the adjacent one-story home whither Papa Schmalzfuss had already retired to the back porch to get out of the sun. Answering the reporter's inquiry as to the state of his health, Papa Schmalzfuss replied to the effect that he was hale and hearty, but was too hot at the moment.

Mama Schmalzfuss, a woman of surprising energy at the age of 71 years, removed Papa Schmalzfuss' hat and the year in which the house was constructed.

The reporter was not surprised to see the scrupulously fresh cleanliness of linens and tapestries, the thoroughness with which the household was kept in order. Nine years previously, he had seen this, and had seen treasures of stained glass and china which Papa and Mama Schmalzfuss, as a young couple, had brought here to place in the home which they planned to build in the new country. Children growing up in that well-ordered household had not broken the glass and china.

When the new one-story home is erected, life will adjust itself and go smoothly onward, as far as Papa and Mama Schmalzfuss are concerned. Their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Cavanna, and their children, will live in the new residence, and Papa and Mama will continue to reside in the home they built 47 years ago. Occasionally, children and grandchildren, from far and near, will visit Papa and Mama Schmalzfuss. Life for this couple, as they go further into the evening of life, becomes fuller, more satisfying, with an abiding place. Indeed they have pulled together like a team of horses for 52 years, and in truth they have loved, honored and obeyed during all of those years. And from their lives the youth of today can learn the lesson of so ordering their lives at the start that the end for which the first was made can be like that.

PLANS UNDER WAY FOR LABOR DAY OBSERVANCE

JONESBORO, La., Aug. 27.—(Special)—Plans are under way for a mammoth Labor day celebration here Monday, September 5. The program will commence Sunday, September 4, at midnight.

An interesting program of field sports has been arranged to begin at 9:30 a. m. at the Hodge athletic park. These events will consist of a pie-eating contest, a three-legged race, a sack race, bicycle race for boys and a tug-of-war between the employees of the two bag mills.

A tug-of-war will be staged between the negro employees of the pulp mill on one side and those of the shipping department on the other.

Baseball games will be staged during the day between the Wa-Ha team of the Southern Advance and teams from outside the city.

The events of the day will close with swimming and bathing beauty contests held at the natorium near the pine grove. Kelley's band will be on hand to render music during the entire program.

A private plane with a capacity for 13 passengers, and complete with dining room, lounge and bedrooms, has recently been built at a reported cost of $300,000.

TRIAL FLIGHT

CHAPTER VI

After Roger had loaned Jackie his pocket handkerchief and apologized profusely she explained she only cried when she was angry. "It's because I thought your plan would work out so easily, the way you said it would," Jackie said, a bit tremulously. "And instead, it's a howling flop. Why, if we're not careful mother will have us middle-aiding to the tune of Lohengrin next month!"

Roger could think of worse things than that. But he, too, was learning his lessons from bitter experience. His face still stung. So he said, "I told you I had something important to tell you. If it works out, as I hope it will, I think we can talk in your mother's well-intentioned scheme. But, my love, we will have to put on an act if we are going to put over the idea that we are engaged. That's why," he added, throwing her a grin, "I got slapped. I was only practicing—get me?"

"I get you. But you'll get slapped again, if you keep on practicing," Jackie said. "And remember, please, I'm not 'your love'! I suppose you're right about the act, though. But remember, too, it'll only be put on in public."

"I'll remember," Roger promised, rubbing his jaw thoughtfully.

"I didn't mean to slap you quite so hard," Jackie relented a trifle. She returned his handkerchief. She was thoroughly ashamed of those tears. What on earth was the matter with her? Was she getting soft? Or was it the result of all that her nerves had been put through since this crazy engagement business had taken place?

"What was it you had to tell me?" she asked. "It will have to be really good this time... aren't you going to drive on? If anyone goes by he'll think we're lovers! Parked on the side of the road like this with the lights burned out."

"He'd have another guess coming," Roger said. "This is more like an amateur boxing match. We'll move on, as soon as I've told you—and this really is good. I think I've met my Santa Claus, Jackie. When I was in Washington."

"Someone who'll back you? Not really!" The golden fires in Jackie's eyes flared anew.

"Right you are. At least, it looks that way. If everything works out," Roger smirked his lips in smug satisfaction. "We may get the whole thing set up in another month. This Santa Claus works fast. There's a new super-charged ship ready for stratosphere tests. It will take an altitude of 50,000 feet, maybe more. And yours truly, my love—forgive me, I forgot again—but your fiancé-by-proxy may land the job."

"Oh, Roger!" Jackie could not say any more. She was so thrilled for him. "I'll know next week," he went on. "So keep your fingers crossed until then. Oh, boy, will that be something! Think of it, Jackie, flying in a new unseen world, a world where the stars always shine in the purple shadows, where the sun is only a silver disc; no clouds, no birds. No storms or air-bumps, either, which is what makes it an aviator's dream, with such increase in speed for long-distance hops that one of these days it will be possible to cruise at 800 miles an hour doing a round-trip from New York to Europe, keeping pace with the sun."

"It's too magnificent!" Jackie said. "Too big almost to comprehend. And to be one of the first to help make such dreams come true—oh, Roger, why wasn't I born a man!"

He looked at her, her shining eyes more beautiful than any stars or sun. "You do very well as you are," he said. Like every man since Adam, he did not want his woman to change. He would do the man's work, if she would only have faith in him. "You can practically go with me," he promised. "If I get the breaks and get my chance, I'll arrange so you can listen at the radio tower. I'll send you messages all the way up, so you'll almost think you're in the ship with me."

"Oh, Roger!" It was all Jackie could say again. She slipped an arm through his, squeezed it hard. Her heart was so full she thought it would burst. She would try to be unselfish, be happy with him. Since she wasn't a man, it was almost the next-best thing to know one like Roger.

"It's what I've always wanted to do," Roger said. "It will be the beginning for a lot of things for me. No more crazy test-dives, photographic mapping, or teaching dubs how to fly."

"I like that!" She pretended indignation. "Calling me a dub! And what will I do for an instructor, please? Just when I'm getting ready to solo and everything."

"I didn't mean you. You're okay. Good reflexes and rhythm—if you'd been a man you'd make a swell pilot, Jackie."

"Don't rub it in!" "Sorry. But it's the truth. You can't change the world too quickly. Maybe some day women will be the leaders in aviation—look at the way they run affairs in their homes now! I know darn well you'll boss the guy you marry..."

"But I'm not going to marry anyone—unless mother manages to make me, as she gives every evidence of doing the way things are stacking up. Roger, you said you had another idea. Something to do with what you've just told me. I don't see how your stratosphere flight can make things any easier." She remembered that she was still hanging on, as though she were a clinging vine, to Roger's arm. She pulled away, cautiously, hoping he would not notice. And was she glad now that the lights were out so that he could not see that her face was flushed!

"We'll tell your mother we can't make any definite plans until I've made my flight," Rogers explained. Maybe he became a hero, Jackie might even be willing to marry him afterwards. She did not know it—and the good Lord would have to help him if she found it out—but Roger was on Evelyn's side in this marriage business.

Jackie considered. "That ought to hold her off a while," she agreed. "But after the flight?" he reminded. "Maybe my oxygen tube will spring a leak, or my body expand to the bursting point..."

"Roger!" "Well, I was only trying to be helpful." She must like him a little bit, the way she had reacted to that.

"You ought to be ashamed to say such things!" She looked as though she would like to slap him again. Then as suddenly her eyes turned starry, her lips tremulous, she was all tender femininity and yielding sweetness, as unthinkingly she caught his arm, pressing close to his again. "You didn't mean it! It's not that risky!" She was seized with that unexplainable panic once again, that sickening emptiness.

"I was kidding," he said lightly. But he put his two hands on her shoulders and pushed her gently from him.

Where! He'd rather do any number of test-dives, climb to any stratospheric heights, than have Jackie, looking like that, so unbecomingly close, yet so unattainably far from him.

She sank back, releasing another big sigh. Relief flooded through her, as though she had been made whole again. "Who is this wonderful Santa Claus?" she murmured. "You didn't tell me his name, Roger. Or anything about him!"

"Didn't I?" Roger laughed. "It isn't a mister, Jackie, at all. This happens to be Mrs. Santa Claus. Mrs. Beryl Melrose, to be exact.

"Mrs. Beryl Melrose," Jackie repeated. But the name did not mean anything to her then.

ST. MATTHEW'S WILL OPEN ON SEPT. 8TH

Sisters comprising the faculty of St. Matthew's parochial school arrived in Monroe from Shreveport Friday and are making plans for the re-opening of the institution early next month. Registration will take place on September 6 and 7 and first classes for the new term will be initiated on September 8.

The faculty this year will number 14, and there will be a few changes made from those of a year ago.

The plan of conducting a kindergarten was tried out last year and was such a success that it is probable that it will be again operated this year, it was said.

DRIVE FOR PARSONAGE FUNDS TO BEGIN TODAY

OAK GROVE, La., Aug. 27.—(Special)—Sunday morning services at the Oak Grove Methodist church will mark the beginning of a drive to raise funds for construction of a new parsonage. The present parsonage is in such a shape that it is advisable to build a new one and a special committee has been selected to handle the matter.

The structure which is planned will be complete in every respect and is expected to cost around $10,000. One means of financing the undertaking will be the sale of shares in the building at $10 each. Portions of shares will also be sold. Members of the church school are to assist by raising a "mile of nickels."

OAK GROVE WILL SEEK PWA GRANT

West Carroll Would Expend $27,000 On Courthouse Improvement

The Monroe architectural firm of J. W. Smith and Associates has just prepared plans and application has been made for extensive improvements to the courthouse and court square in Oak Grove, West Carroll parish, it was stated Saturday. The improvements will cost an estimated sum of $27,000, of which 45 per cent will be sought from the PWA.

The entire interior of the courthouse will be reconstructed and rooms will be re-arranged. Added office space will be provided. A brick veneer building will be erected on the courthouse grounds for the use of the parish farm and home demonstration agents.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR MASONIC MEET AT RAYVILLE TODAY

RAYVILLE, La., Aug. 27.—(Special)—Charles E. Ratcliff, grand master of Masons of Louisiana, will be the principal speaker at a district meeting of the seventh district to be held in Rayville August 31, according to an announcement made by W. D. Cotton of Rayville, district deputy grand master of the seventh district.

This meeting marks the first appearance of the grand master in this section of the state this year and it is anticipated that other grand lodge officers who will accompany the grand master to the district meeting will include Robert H. Brooks of Ruston, deputy grand master; Dee A. Strickland of Monroe, grand junior warden; T. W. Parish of Ruston, grand lecturer; and Robert F. Kennon of Minden, past grand master.

The local Masonic lodge, R. F. McGuire No. 209, is making extensive preparation to entertain one of the largest Masonic gatherings ever held in this section of the state, with W. L. Jackson, master, in general charge of arrangements. It is anticipated that refreshments will be served immediately following the meeting.

This meeting marks the third district meeting of the year for this district. Other meetings have heretofore been held, with great success, at Delhi and Mer Rouge.

The seventh Masonic district of Louisiana comprises the parishes of Morehouse, Richland, West Carroll, East Carroll and Madison, and is comprised of 11 lodges. In addition to District Deputy Grand Master Cotton, other officers include Thomas J. Norzthy, worshipful master, Mer Rouge; R. E. Brown, senior warden, Tallulah; W. O. Kelly, junior warden, Bastrop; W. A. Cooper, secretary, Rayville; W. H. Giles, chaplain, Bastrop, and Zell Stockner, Lake Providence, orator.

REVIVAL MEETING
TALLULAH, La., Aug. 27.—(Special)—A revival meeting is in progress by the Church of Christ here with the Rev. L. L. Briggance of Nashville, Tenn., as preacher. Services are being held at the Tallulah Book club building.

CHURCHES

ASSEMBLY OF GOD CHURCH, West Monroe

Sunday school will be held in all departments at 9:45 under the supervision of D. L. McDaniel, superintendent. The pastor will occupy the pulpit at both services Sunday, one at 11:00 a.m. and another at 7:45 p.m. Ten additions were made to the church last Sunday.

The young people of the church will meet Sunday at 8:45 p.m. Visitors are welcome at all services.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, St. John and Grammont Streets

Douglas Kelly, Youth Week Director of Education

"Eight Great Days With Youth" are proving to be the greatest days. The crowds have steadily increased until the second floor of the educational building has been taxed to its capacity. Chester Swor's message from the pulpit, over the radio and before the luncheon clubs of our city have been remarkably well received. The young people's choir under the direction of A. L. Long, Jr., has been a great inspiration. The young people in all places of responsibility and leadership have proven themselves capable and worthy of kingdom tasks.

If you can get it to hear him, don't fail to hear Mr. Swor twice Sunday. He will deliver his final message in this series Sunday night, after which the young people will turn their offices back to the regular officers and the greatest week will close with the baptismal service in the church auditorium.

All services will be held at the regular time. The Sunday school will assemble after class period in the auditorium of the educational building at 10:20 for very important matter.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, West Monroe

Dallas Goss, Choir Director

Erma Moore, Educational Director

Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m. J. F. Jones, superintendent. Morning worship will be at 10:30 o'clock and the pastor will bring a message on "Laborers Together With God." B. T. U. and Brotherhood will meet at 7 o'clock. The evening worship will begin at 8 o'clock and the pastor will speak on "I Am Not Ashamed of the Gospel of Christ." B. T. U. social Monday night 6:30 o'clock, meeting promptly at that time at the church. Sunbeams will meet Tuesday 3:15 o'clock at church. Helen Bagby V. W. will meet with Miss Lorraine Harvey. Sunday school council Wednesday evening 7 o'clock. Church business meeting and prayer meeting Wednesday evening 8 o'clock. Choir rehearsal Thursday night at 8 o'clock. Young people's social Friday night 7:30 o'clock.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH, R. T. Watson, Minister

Church school, 9:45 a.m. Morning worship 10:30 a.m. Sermon, "Can Jesus Still Be Our Savior?" Evening worship 8 p.m. Sermon to be announced. The minister will occupy the pulpit this Sunday.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

Corner Auburn Avenue and North Second Street

Sunday services 11 a.m.; Sunday school 9:30 a.m.; Wednesday evening testimony meetings 8 o'clock. Reading room, 709 Ouachita National Bank building, open daily, except Sundays and holidays, 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The public is welcome to all services and the use of the reading room.

Christ Jesus is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 28. Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Behold my servant, whom I uphold, mine elect, in whom my soul delighteth: I have put my spirit upon him; he shall bring forth judgment to the Gentiles." (Isa. 42)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Christ was the Spirit which Jesus implied in his own statements: 'I am the way, the truth, and the life: I and my Father are one.' This Christ, or divinity of the man Jesus, was his divine nature, the godliness which animated him." (p. 36)

CHURCH OF CHRIST, South Second and Apple Streets

J. F. Lowrey, Minister

Bible study will be held at 9:45 a.m. Sermons will be delivered at 11:30 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. There will be Communion meetings and evening.

The ladies Bible class will meet Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. Prayer and song service will be held Wednesday at 8:00 p.m.

GRACE CHURCH, Fourth and Glenmar Streets

Edward Farron Hayward, Pastor

The Scriptures appointed for the 11th Sunday after Trinity are very helpfully arranged. In the Collect, we beseech God for grace to "run the way of His commandments." The Epistle shows us the connection of faith with morals; a steadfast belief in the Resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ being enforced by the Apostles, as a requisite to salvation; while the Holy Gospel shows us that self-righteousness, or the boasted merit of the Pharisee, is shown to be the reverse of what is acceptable with God. The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. The 9:30 a.m. Eucharist is choral and the rector will preach. The service lasts but one hour.

The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. till 5:30 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate. You are welcome to worship with us.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH

Walter C. Smith, Minister

"The Church With The Lighted Scepter"

The church is a building and loan association to help you build a mansion in heaven. How much stock have you got? Is it insured? Is it paying dividends? You'd better come and see about it. Your absence from church is a sure way to close its doors.

Join us in the worship service this morning at 11 o'clock and hear Rev. J. J. Rasmussen of Mansfield discuss the subject, "What Is Right With The Church?" Rev. Rasmussen will bring a message of interest and inspiration to all who hear him. The public is cordially invited.

We are having no evening services in this church during August but beginning next Sunday, September 4, when our minister will be back on the job, all regular services will be resumed and every member is urged to be present. This is a time to do his part in winning up the most successful year in the history of our church. The church school year will begin September 25, which will be promotion day in the departments, and the conference year will close with the annual conference, which will convene November 1 at the B. L. Rouge. Tuesday being the fifth Tuesday of the month, there will be no meeting of the Woman's Missionary society. Members will spend that afternoon in visiting sick and strangers.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

C. Karlos Smith, Pastor

The greatest asset to civilization are the churches whose one great task is that of elevating all noble and pure ideals and guiding mankind in the way of truth. All people reveal their interest in the great institution by their attitudes toward the same. We invite you to worship with us at every service and to take part in the program of the church as we do what we can to make this city and community every thing it should be.

Sunday school meets at 9:45 a.m. R. M. McClendon is our efficient superintendent; G. C. Williams our director of music, assisted by Miss Madia McClendon as the pianist.

The pastor, Dr. C. Karlos Smith, will occupy the pulpit at both services Sunday. The services will begin at 11 a.m. and 7:45 p.m.

Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 7:45, you are invited to attend. "The church with a welcome."

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST, J. M. Allford, Pastor

The Missionary society will have charge of the morning service Sunday and will render a special program relative to their work in the community and also the woman's missionary work throughout the entire church. Suitable songs and readings by members of the local auxiliary will be given. The pastor is engaged in an evangelistic meeting at the Calhoun Methodist church and will be absent from his pulpit at both hours. Rev. H. L. Johns, presiding elder of the Monroe district, will preach at the evening hour (7:45). The church school exercises will open at 9:45 a.m. and the young people will have their services at the usual time, 7 p.m. The day before yesterday was led last Wednesday evening by E. K. Reeves, general superintendent, and will be led next Wednesday evening, by R. L. Hales, chairman of the board of stewards and church lay-leader. The Sunday school attendance was almost to the 100 mark last Sunday. We call on all the members and our friends to help us continue to carry on in building up all the interests of the church. There will be no missionary meeting next Tuesday since the zone meeting will be held at Columbia.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Ernest Duncan Holloway, Pastor

Church school, 9:45 a.m. Class for men meets at the Paramount theater, women's class in the church as well as all other classes. The subject of the lesson: "Eli: Responsibility for Others." 11 a.m., morning worship. Rev. Kenneth Stewart will talk on "Some Attitudes of Mind." 8:45 p.m., vesper service. The young people are invited to attend.

The pastor will be back from his vacation and will preach on September 4.

METHODIST PROTESTANT CHURCH, Stone Avenue and South Third Street

I. L. Yeager, Pastor

Usual week-end services with Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. M. B. Hearn, general superintendent. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Christian Endeavor at 7 p.m. Evening service at 7:45. Circle meetings Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Mid-week prayer service Thursday evening at 7:45.

In the absence of the pastor who is assisting Rev. C. J. Cotton, in a revival meeting at Mt. Pleasant church, near Chatham, La., Rev. J. W. Lee of Grayson, La., will bring the message at 11 a.m. The evening service will be conducted by Miss Lea Joyner, also of Grayson. Miss Joyner, for several years has been doing efficient religious work among the young people. She is a graduate of Westminster college, Toluca, Tex., and is now continuing her preparation in one of the denominational schools at High Point, N. C.

MR. AND MRS. HAYES TO RETURN HOME THIS WEEK

Jack Hayes, principal of the Ouachita Parish High school, and Mrs. Hayes will return late this week from Kentucky, where they have spent the summer.

Because of the fact that many details have required his constant attention, T. O. Brown, superintendent of the Ouachita parish schools, has not been able to take a vacation this summer, having remained steadily at his desk all summer.

Miss Athline Connell, secretary of Superintendent Brown, who has been on her vacation the past two weeks, will be back at her duties Monday morning.

There will be a meeting of the school board in the office of the superintendent Tuesday at 10 a.m., at which time bids will be opened for the construction of five frame school buildings for negroes which are to be built in wards one, three, four, six and seven. Plans and specifications were prepared by H. H. Land, Monroe architect.

HOME OWNING IS MADE EASY NOW

FHA Loans Up To 90 Per Cent Of Total Value Of Property. Granted

FHA offers today in the opinion of those who are well informed, the best opportunity ever for home ownership. Thanks to Uncle Sam it is now cheaper to own one's own home than to pay rent to another person and have only rent receipts to show in the end.

Where the builder of a new home plans to occupy it when constructed, FHA will advance 90 per cent of the total cost. For example, if a person owns a $300 lot and seeks to erect thereon a $2,500 house, it is not necessary that the lot be even paid out. Ten per cent of the total cost, or $300, will be all that will be required that a client have as minimum investment in the lot which is to form the site for his new residence.

The payments each month will be $4.81 per thousand plus taxes and insurance. The cost of making the loan will be approximately $100, which can be added to the sum total of the loan.

When a building is erected for sale or for rent and not for occupancy by the owner, FHA will advance 80 per cent of the total cost.

Loans can be made by approved FHA representatives in Monroe in any part of the state of Louisiana, it was explained Saturday by a representative.

representative. He further stated that the outlook is remarkably bright for a large volume of loans in Monroe and vicinity this fall and that the building of new houses promises to be an important industry here. Dealers in supplies and contractors whose advertisements appear on the classified page today are all recognized by FHA as reputable ones. They all know the requirements of FHA and are exacting in seeing that all material measures up to standards set.

PARADE PLANNED ON LABOR DAY PROGRAM

The Monroe Central Trades and Labor council's plans for Labor day, was only partially completed, it was announced Saturday. However, tentative plans are being formulated. A motorcade will be one of the chief features. The public, especially merchants of Monroe and West Monroe, is invited to enter floats.

Further details can be had from F. C. McMullen, telephone 2685-W, as he is parade chairman and marshal. The general chairman will be Joe Dietrich, acting labor council president.

Britain's national flower industry is valued at $50,000,000 30 years ago it was worth about $605,000.

Up to date typography is only another name for modern printing. It is as necessary and desirable as up to date in anything else. Our clothes are cut to different pattern than they were forty or fifty years ago; and hats and footwear have changed often and radically during the same period. All things change as time marches on, and there is no good reason why PRINTING should be an exception.

THE MONROE PRINTING COMPANY long ago discarded the idea that the art of printing must be shielded from modern influence. If progress and improvement were desirable in other things, why not in printing? If printing could be made distinctive and different and colorful—more pleasing to behold and more effective—why not do it that way?

We soon found the answer to these questions. It was in the hearty response and increased business received from the pleased buyers of our new and better kind of printing.

We learned that most people and firms really wanted and were willing to pay more for good printing. The only problem had been where to get it. We feel proud of the work our craftsmen turn out and we are confident that you will be pleased and satisfied.

THE NEBBS

A Passenger

By SOL HESS

WELL, WE'RE NOT HAVING MUCH LUCK FISHING TODAY - LOOKS LIKE WE WON'T HAVE ANY FOR LUNCH.

SAY! LOOK! WE'RE SNAGGED INTO SOMETHIN'!

IT'S A FISHERMAN'S NET - WE GOTTA GET CLEAR OF IT.

WAIT TILL I FIRST BORROW THIS FISH FROM IT.

POOR FISH - OUT OF THE NET AND INTO THE FRYING PAN.

AND INTO OUR STOMACHS! OH, BOY!

HECK! THERE GOES OUR LUNCH!

OF ALL THE BUM LUCK I EVER SAW!

BUCK, THERE'S A TOWN AHEAD - LET'S PULL IN AND WE CAN BUY SOME HAMBURGER TO COOK.

WE'LL TIE HER UP GOOD SO SHE WON'T DRIFT AWAY.

I'D RATHER HAVE SOME HAMBURGER INSTEAD OF FISH ANYWAY.

THIS IS GONNA BE SLICK TO COOK OUR OWN HAMBURGER.

IT BROKE LOOSE AND IS DRIFTING AWAY - HURRY, BUCK!

JIMMINY - I THOUGHT I TIED IT GOOD AND TIGHT!

HEY! DID YOU KIDS SEE ANYTHING OF AN ESCAPED CONVICT ALONG THIS BANK?

NO, SIR!

HOLY SMOKES! LET'S HEAD RIGHT OUT INTO THE MIDDLE OF THE STREAM - WE DON'T WANT TO BE AROUND WHERE THERE'S ANY ESCAPED CONVICTS!!

BOY, I'LL SAY WE DON'T.

OH, YE DON'T, HEY? WELL, JUST KEEP RIGHT OUT IN DE MIDDLE OF DE RIVER - AND KEEP YER YAPS SHUT - UN'ERSTAND?!

OH-OH! NOW WHAT?
